FUEHRER PLANS TO ISOLATE POLAND

Hitler Seeks 6 Nations In Neutral Bloc

BERLIN, May 3.—Chancellor Adolf Hitler sought today to form a neutral bloc of at least six nations extending across northern Europe. Lithuania was not included.

The German leader offered identical non-aggression pacts to Denmark, Norway, Sweden and Finland, made similar approaches to Latvia and Estonia and there were strong reasons to believe that proposals of like nature had been submitted to a number of other European countries.

Lithuania was not included in the Chancellor's projected northern combination because her relations to Germany 'are regulated by a separate treaty which contains non-aggression pledges.

One object of this diplomatic activity is to isolate Poland. Hitler already feels assured that Hungary has cast her lot with Germany, even to the extent of forsaking a historic friendship with Poland, as a consequence of the Berlin visit of the

INITIAL PRICE FOR WHEAT TO BE 70 CENTS

$1, $1.50 and $2 Basis For Acreage Bonus In Revised Bill

By THOMAS WAYLING
Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

OTTAWA, May 3.—An initial price for wheat of 70 cents but applying only to a limited quantity of wheat marketed by each individual farmer, with $1, $1.50 and $2 allowance for acreage and up to $2.50 per acre in crop failure areas is the revised decision of the government with respect to assistance in the west.

The revised act to assist agriculture in the prairie provinces, Bill No. 83, was brought into the Commons today being the bill respecting assistance to be given the government on an acreage basis. The awards are not to exceed $1, $1.50 and $2 per acre and in a crop failure area not to exceed $2.50 per acre.

NEW PRICE 70 CENTS

Tonight the minister of trade and commerce will bring in his bill No. 63 increasing the guaranteep price for wheat. The existent bill provides for a 60 cent guaranteed price for wheat the existent understood that the new price is 70 cents.

Under the Prairie Farm Assistance Act, Bill 83, assistance may be extended to farmers in the western provinces if and when the extent of agricultural distress or the low yield of wheat per acre in a given area calls for alleviative measures. The crop year 1939-40 is to be an emergency year and farmers in any township in which the average yield of wheat is under 15 bushels per acre will be granted an award, the amount of which is based upon the yield per acre and calculated on the average price for wheat at Fort William, only if such price is below the basic value of 80 cents per bushel.

BASIC VALUE

In subsequent emergency years the amount is calculated in the same manner, with the basic value to be declared by the Governor-in-Council. These awards cannot exceed one dollar, one dollar and fifty cents, or two dollars per acre, respectively, according to yield, and

FIRES MAY BE BANNED HERE ALONG RIVER

Mayor Fry Warns Blaze Would Spoil City's Scenic Beauty

Mayor John W. Fry expressed deep concern Wednesday over the danger of forest fire along the river banks in the city, starting from hikers' camp fires.

Declaring that it likely will be necessary to prohibit building of open fires, he said he would immediately confer with the city solicitor and fire marshall on precautions which might be taken.

"Many people have called my attention to it, including Mr. T. F. Bletgen, provincial forestry supervisor," he said, "and I am very anxious about this danger myself. A fire along the river bank would spoil the beauty of the city for at least a generation.

"People have told me that they have seen many campfires left burning by hikers and picnic parties. It would be a terrible thing if they caught in the trees.

"A few years ago we built some stone fireplaces and it may be necessary to build some more."

BRITISH, FRENCH RUSSIAN AIDES WILL CONFER

LONDON, May 3—The foreign secretaries of Great Britain, France and Russia were reported reliably today to have arranged to meet at Geneva May 15 in an effort to find a common way to stop further aggression in Europe.

The League of Nations council is scheduled to meet in Geneva at that time and it is stated authoritatively that Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax, Foreign Commissar Maxim Litvinoff of Russia and Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet of France have agreed to take this opportunity to try to break the deadlock in the negotiations by which Britain and France hope to bring Russia into their anti-aggression alliance.

Bombs Explode In Two Crowded Cinema Houses

LIVERPOOL, May 3.—Tear gas bombs, believed by police to have been planted by agitators of the illegal Irish Republican army, exploded in two crowded cinemas tonight.

Fifteen persons were taken to hospital for treatment. Investigators expressed the opinion the explosions were reprisals for sanctions imposed on two Irishmen in London today.

LITVINOFF IS RELEASED FROM FOREIGN POST

MOSCOW, May 3.—Tass (official Soviet News Agency) today announced Maxim Litvinoff, the Soviet Union's veteran foreign affairs commissar, had been "released" from his post.

V. Y. Molotoff, chairman of the council of the people's commissars —equivalent to premier, was appointed to hold the foreign affairs post in addition to his previous position.

Tass said the presidium of the supreme Soviet "released Litvinoff upon the latter's request."

Litvinoff was understood previously to have agreed to attend a meeting with the French and British foreign ministers, George Bonnet and Viscount Halifax, at Geneva May 15 to discuss French-British efforts toward bringing Soviet Russia into an alliance.

The 62-year-old diplomat has been commissar of foreign affairs since 1930 and prior to that had been vice-commissar.

WINFIELD, May 3.—Fraser's mill at Fraspur is in danger from fire in the Buck Mountain area which has moved close to the mill. The fire moved several miles, driven by a strong wind, this morning. George Beattie, fire warden, said he had been advised about 11:30 a.m. by Don Fraser that help was needed.

ROCKY MOUNTAIN HOUSE, May 3.—Forest fire which once had been turned back made a new attack and on Tuesday burned Angus Martin's sawmill to the ground. Not a single building or shack was left on the site and damage was estimated at $20,000.

The mill was 15 miles north of town and machinery, boilers, engines and planers are just twisted iron now. A crew of 100 men were fighting fire in that district for five days.

PRESSING NEED IS PURCHASING POWER, CLAIM

Raising Might Of Canadians To Buy, Is Urge In Commons

OTTAWA, May 3.—The pressing need of the day is to raise the purchasing power of the Canadian people. J. C. Landeryou (S.C., Calgary East), told the Commons committee on banking and commerce today.

The west produced wheat and coal but easterners were unable to buy them. Similarly, eastern factories were idle and thousands of workers unemployed because the manufacturers were unable to sell agricultural machinery to the west.

The Social Credit belief is that the financial system is to blame, Mr. Landeryou said, Graham Towers, governor of the Bank of Canada, did not agree. Royal commissions investigating Social Credit in Ireland and in Australia had reported to the contrary, he said.

The commission reports stood as a challenge to Social Credit that remained to be answered. Mr. Towers doubted the ability of Social Credit to set aside the facts as presented in the commission reports.

Their Majesties To Receive Key To Washington

WASHINGTON, May 3.—City Commissioner Melvin Hazen, breaking a long standing precedent, decided today that King George and Queen Elizabeth will be presented a key to Washington when they visit the capital.

"For years," said Hazen, "we have not presented keys to the capital. One trouble has been that there are so many distinguished visitors to Washington."

Meteor Spells Out War

Nazi Swastika Too Plain To Miss

Hitler And Also F. D. R.

HOUSTON, Texas, May 3.—A huge meteor streaked across the Texas sky last night and excited hundreds of persons. Some of the tales of what people "saw" were as wild as they were different.

Here are a few "observations":

"War" was spelled out plainly.

"Hitler" was up there in letters 10 miles high.

A Democrat saw "F.D.R."

The Nazi swastika was too plain to miss.

It appeared to some twice the size of the full moon. Others said it appeared to resemble the sun travelling fast and laying a smoke screen. To others it seemed to explode in mid-air with a terrific roar. And still others said it did not explode at all but fell in the Gulf of Mexico many miles from shore.

The only man who thought to take a picture of the phenomenon was Paul Peters, a newspaper photographer. Peters got four shots of the meteor's tail. At first it appeared as a broad streak of light. Then it began to waver and zig-zag into figures that could have been mistaken for anything.

CANADA OFFERS BIG FIELD FOR DEVELOPMENT

Sir Edward Beatty Presents Report To C.P.R. Shareholders

MONTREAL, May 3.—Canada still offers one of the "greatest fields in the world for expansion of population and development of natural resources," Sir Edward Beatty told shareholders today at the annual meeting of Canadian Pacific Railway Company.

Sir Edward, in his presidential address, predicted the company, taking into consideration all present economic conditions, "may look forward with greater confidence to the immediate and distant future than railways in most other countries."

BOARD RE-ELECTED

Sir Edward, re-elected along with the entire board, said the effect of the uncertain international position has been especially marked on this continent and consequently it was impossible to hope for a major restoration of normal business activities in any country until general peace between nations is established.

The royal visit combined with expositions in New York and San Francisco would do much, he thought, to stimulate domestic travel.

"However, internal business conditions in Canada remained disturbed and in some respects depressed. Manufacturing activities were maintaining a fairly satisfactory volume. The mining industry was continuing to show steady expansion. The paper industry was suffering to some extent from failure of business in the United States to show anticipated recovery. The great agricultural industry of eastern Canada, which actually employ-

Censor Act Now Sighted

Sir Samuel Hoare Outlines Plans of Government for Regulation of News During War.

LONDON, May 3 — Sir Samuel Hoare last night outlined censorship measures Great Britain may take in case of war, and forecast a wartime minister of information would be set up. Speaking as a guest at a newspaper society dinner, the home secretary said that in wartime the press must be prevented from publishing news useful to the enemy.

Papers would be smaller, he predicted, and would function under a semi-voluntary censorship similar to that of the closing stages of the Great War, rather than under rigid restrictions imposed in 1914.

"It is essential that the press should continue in wartime," he said. "Nothing so much alarmed the country at the time of the general strike (in 1926) as the absence

APPROVAL NOW RECEIVED FOR MINING ROADS

Dominion Will Put Up $50,000, and Province $25,000 For Work

Tentative approval has been given by the dominion government to the province's submission for construction of northern mining roads under the joint agreement by which the Dominion puts up $50,000 and the province $25,000 for a total of $75,000. Word of the approval was received on Wednesday by Hon. W. A. Fallow, minister of public works.

The minister, in making his announcement, stated, "Owing to the further extension of the Turner Valley oil field south of the Highwood river, we thought it proper to locate a permanent road running west of Cayley. This will follow No. 1 highway to a point one mile north of Cayley and then west to the southern end of Turner Valley."

Mr. Fallow also stated that this would mean practically a new highway 20 miles long. Estimated cost of this is $35,000, of which two-thirds of the cost will be borne by the Dominion and one third by the province.

The balance of the $75,000, about

TAX SYSTEM IS OBSOLETE STEVENS SAYS

Government Urged to Undertake Complete Survey Of Setup

OTTAWA, May 3.—Canada's taxation system is outmoded and obsolete, Hon. H. H. Stevens (Con., Kootenay East), said in the House of Commons Tuesday. Speaking in the budget debate he urged the government to undertake a complete survey with a view to lifting some of the taxation which he said is burdening industry and retarding recovery.

A lowering of the corporation income tax by one or two per cent was suggested by the former leader of the Reconstruction Party. He thought this would be preferable to the government's proposal of granting credit on income tax payments to persons and corporations undertaking new construction and expansion this year.

LEND ENCOURAGEMENT

The government proposal, contained in the budget, was a move in the right direction although "hasty, amateurish and ill-considered." A lowering of the corporation income tax would lend encouragement to business activity over a much wider field.

Assumption by the Dominion government of responsibility of unemployment was not due to local would encourage business activity as it would permit lowering of municipal taxes on real estate. Unemployment was more due to local or municipal but to national and international causes. Neither Canada nor United States had yet come to grips with the modern problem of unemployment.

HIGH INTEREST RAPPED

Protest against the high cost of government financing and the pyramiding of interest charges in the public debt was registered by Joseph Needham (S.C.-The Battlefords).

RECOVERY RETARDED

One major factor retarding recovery in Canada was investment of funds in government securities instead of private enterprise, Mr. Stevens said. The "repatriation" of $300,000,000 or $600,000,000 of Canadian debt formerly held abroad meant Canadian funds went into government bonds instead of other investments and it was not an unmixed blessing.

Leadership in business and industry was needed as Mr. Dunning suggested in his budget but whatever the blame lay the present government had failed to obtain the co-operation and support of industry and business.

Mr. Stevens said G. G. McGeer, Lib., Vancouver-Burrard, had touched the root of the trouble—the proper application of credit machinery to the needs of the country.

A basic trouble was that the whole tax structure had "just grown." It needed complete review and reorganization on a scientific foundation. The old theories of free trade and the law of supply and demand were now obsolete, he said.

Mr. Stevens urged that Canada would never overcome its industrial difficulties by merely exporting raw materials while industrialists were looked on as "nearly criminals."

"You would sometimes think it was criminal to have prosperous industries, listening to supporters of the government," he said. He was not advocating undue protection for industry, though.

72 Canadian War Vets Will Give King, Queen Rousing Send-off

By PAT USSHER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, May 3.—Seventy-two Canadian ex-servicemen will give the king and queen a rousing send-off when they leave Waterloo station Saturday on the first leg of their journey to Canada.

Under command of Captain J. R. Aldridge, the veterans, wearing civilian dress with medals, will parade alongside the royal train. Each will wear a black beret with a green maple leaf and badges of their war-time units.

The royal train is scheduled to leave at 12.45 p.m. for Portsmouth, where Their Majesties will board the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Australia for their voyage to Canada.

The Canadian veterans, drawn from London and a number of provincial towns, will include all ranks.

Their Majesties will be accompanied on the train by Queen Mary, the Duke and Duchess of Gloucester and Princess Elizabeth and Margaret Rose.

While the king and queen will stop in Portsmouth to participate in ceremonies arranged for their visit, the rest of the royal party will go straight through to the dock in the train.

Preparation of the royal suites aboard the Empress of Australia is proceeding rapidly. Furniture of the king's yacht, the Victoria and Albert, already has been taken aboard and decoration of the kings and queen's chambers is nearly complete. The rooms are being furnished almost entirely in white.

of news. How much more will this be the case in wartime?"

He outlined steps to prevent drafting of too many newspapermen into the army, and said he was strongly opposed to any censorship in times of peace.

"I would rather have the criticism of a free press than the adulation of a kept press," he declared.

"The government intends insofar as it can to help the papers surmount their difficulties, and we are already in contact with representatives of the press on the subject.

"It would be wrong to prevent printers from joining the fighting services if, as I hope, some of them wish to do so.

PROTECT PRESS

"But the newspaper trade can feel confident that in time of war appropriate steps will certainly be taken to protect the press from so great a withdrawal of trained workers as would interfere with the maintenance of proper news service."

"We prefer co-operation to dictation. We believe that a censorship that works as closely as possible with the leaders of the press is not only less objectionable than any dictatorial press bureau out of touch with the life of the country, but that it is more effective. Although the final word will of course in wartime be with the government, it will help retain public confidence in undoctored news.

1914 MISTAKE

"I should therefore think it a mistake to set up the kind of a press bureau that was set up in 1914, that is to say a separate and remote department of control.

"It is much wiser to adopt the later lessons of the war and keep the censorship as part of a wartime ministry of information, in closest possible touch not only with the press but also with the wireless, films and other instruments of publicity."

WHEAT CENTRE OF ATTENTION IN PARLIAMENT

Western Member Proposes 87½ Cents a Bushel Minimum

OTTAWA, May 3.— Stability and security in Canada's western agricultural industry would be attained by setting a minimum wheat price of 87½ cents a bushel for several years, in the view of E. E. Perley, lone Conservative member of the House of Commons from the prairies.

Such a price—or a price determined by a comprehensive subcommittee of the Bracken western markets conference—would not only stabilize the industry but would result in the employment of 200,000 additional men on western farms, in the opinion of the Qu'Appelle member.

CONSTRUCTIVE PLAN

His plan was laid before the House of Commons last night as a constructive suggestion during the continuation of the budget debate, during which wheat persisted as the centre of attention.

The debate saw a second Liberal supporter, Harry Leader of Portage La Prairie, declare his intention to vote against the government on the budget. A third Liberal, J. A. MacMillan of Mackenzie riding, Saskatchewan, declared himself in favor of 80-cent wheat.

"I feel like using a slogan, '80 cents or fight,'" Mr. MacMillan told the house, but drew the line at announcing any intention of voting against the government

ADJOURNMENT EXTENDED

In an effort to wind up the budget debate by Thursday, and on three full days, the house extended its adjournment two hours last night, ratting at five o'clock today. At that time, two members were on their feet prepared to continue the argument.

The government's failure to reduce the price of farm implements placed only second to its guaranteed minimum wheat price as a source of complaint from both Mr. Leader and Mr. MacMillan.

"My duty is to vote against the budget," said Mr. Leader. "It makes not much difference which side I sit on. I can be just as good and faithful a representative as any of the hide-bound party men in this house."

POLICY BLAMED

Mr. Perley blamed the government's own wheat-selling policy for responsibility for the greater part of the $48,000,000 estimated loss on wheat market. It had also handed $5,000,000 in storage charges to the elevator companies.

As the basis of a second agricultural policy, he proposed a fixed minimum for several years of 87½ cents a bushel for August, to be increased one cent a month until the following July. This would encourage the farmer to hold his wheat on the farm.

Next, Mr. Perley advocated a minimum domestic price of $1.20 with a regulated price for flour.

Hon. D. B. Mullen Says 70 Cent Wheat Unfair

Charging that the Dominion government decision to reduce the price of wheat to 70 cents a bushel, basis Fort William No. 1 Northern, "comes as a great disappointment and is extremely unfair," Hon. D. B. Mullen, Alberta minister of agriculture, on Wednesday declared that on this basis farmers of this province cannot expect to realize much if any profit on wheat at a bushel for their average grade of wheat.

His statement was made in comments on the announcement from Ottawa that the Dominion government has established the 70 cent price for the 1939 wheat crop.

Mr. Mullen's statement is as follows:

"It is with great dissatisfaction that I have learned that the Dominion Government has established a minimum price of 70 cents per bushel, basis Fort William, for No. 1 Northern wheat, for the 1939 crop.

"During the past few months I have given careful study to this problem, and as I have stated on previous occasions, I am convinced that the price is inadequate and will not permit of a profitable return to the farmer.

"I have urged that the farmers of Alberta should receive a net price of not less than 80 cents per bushel for No. 1 Northern wheat at country elevators. I contend that in the interests of the farmer and of good business this price is a necessity. Any monies paid to the farmer will be expended, and business as a whole would benefit thereby. It is therefore not only in the interests of the farmers of Western Canada, but of industry as a whole, that the farmer receive a reasonable remuneration for his grain crop.

"On the basis of 70 cents per bushel the farmers of Alberta cannot expect to realize, on an average, much more than 45 cents per bushel for their average grade of wheat.

"Following the representations which have been made on behalf of the farmers of Western Canada to the Dominion Government, its decision to reduce the price comes as a great disappointment, and is extremely unfair."

Moscow-To-New York Non-Stop Commercial Flights Are Predicted

NEW YORK, May 3 — Brig.-General Vladimir Kokkinaki, whose attempted flight from Moscow to New York failed by 650 miles, believed a non-stop commercial air service between the two cities may be functioning "in a comparatively brief time."

In the first detailed account of the flight, which ended at Miscou Island, New Brunswick, last Friday, the aviator last night said his trip was undertaken in an effort to explore the Moscow-to-New York route for the possible establishment of regular commercial air travel. He felt his experience encountered was not entirely typical of the elimination of a few obstacles.

The flight also showed, he said, that weather services know little of winds and velocities in the higher atmosphere and that scientists would have to give attention to flood values in these unusual altitudes because of their exaggerated effect upon the senses and taste.

General Kokkinaki said his speeds for the approximately 4,000 miles he flew before coming down averaged from 165 to 225 miles an hour, and that his altitude ranged from 17,000 feet to more than 29,000 feet. It was the first high-altitude crossing of the Atlantic ocean, he pointed out, and proved conclusively, in his opinion, that the future of long distance flying is in high altitudes.

The flight also showed, he said, that weather services know little of winds and velocities in the higher atmosphere and that scientists would have to give attention to flood values in these unusual altitudes because of their exaggerated effect upon the senses and taste.

Dominions May Be Asked Prevent Sale Of Munitions Metals

70 Cent Wheat

LONDON, May 3. — Questions concerning the export of munitions metals by Canada and other empire countries to Germany were asked the government in the House of Commons Monday.

Alfred Edward, Labor asked when the attention of Oliver Stanley, president of the board of trade, had been called to the export figures which he said showed Germany imported during the first two months of this year nearly five times the quantity of nickel and nickel ore as in the corresponding period last year.

He also asked whether the government would call an immediate conference with the dominions with a view to preventing the sale to other countries of material used to build up armaments of those countries and which might sometime be used against the British Empire.

LOW NICKEL CONTENT

"The statement in the first part of the question is approximately correct as regards nickel ore only," replied Robert Hudson, secretary for overseas trade. "But I understand that the ore imported this year was of low nickel content.

"There was, moreover, during the same period a decrease of more than 20 per cent in the imports of metallic nickel into Germany.

INCREASE SMALL

"On the balance total, the increase in imports of nickel in ore and metallic form was relatively small. As regards the second part of the question, I refer to the answer made on April 25 by the secretary of state for dominion affairs (Sir Thomas Inskip)."

(The statement by Sir Thomas April 25 concerned the possibility of using Canadian oil to fuel British ships in war time. He said the possibility depended on the stability of the Canadian product for admiralty and air force requirements. He added that representatives of private interests in Alberta were in London and were in touch with the government on the subject.)

DECISION ON WHEAT BILLS KNOWN TODAY

Rumor Government Will Jump Initial Price From 60 To 70 Cents

OTTAWA, May 3.—The government's decision concerning the wheat price and acreage bonus legislation probably will be known today.

Parliament Hill buzzed with speculation yesterday after Hon. W. D. Euler, trade minister, and Hon. J. G. Gardiner, agriculture minister, told the commons they had amended the wheat legislation and that the bills would be reprinted. They did not give any detailed information concerning the amendments.

It was rumored the initial price will be jumped from 60 cents a bushel to 70 cents, basis No. 1 Northern at Fort William. Unofficial reports also indicated the acreage bonus, originally proposed at $2.50, $2.00 and $1.50 for the various classifications, will be reduced 50 cents for each classification.

The changes in the legislation are believed designed to make it more palatable to western Canada without altering its basic principle.

Both Conservative leader R. J. Manion and Hon. H. H. Stevens (Con., Kootenay East) objected to the government's mode of procedure in reprinting the two bills which now stand for second reading.

ed more workers and capital with a greater production value than agriculture in Western Canada, was not markedly prosperous but was in a good economic position.

"Two industries, namely construction and western wheat growing presented outstanding difficulties. The construction industry was failing to show reasonable expension, with the present small volume resulting chiefly from expenditure of government money. There was need for a large amount of low rental housing, he said.

REASON TO HOPE

"In the west there was reason to hope for definite improvement in the grain crop for 1939. There was hope for some "recovery of grain prices above present low levels.

"The annual report for 1938 showed gross earnings for the first three months of the current year declined $920,000 or 2.7 per cent compared with 1938, but since then have been running at approximately the same level as a year ago. Working expenses for the first quarter declined $1,040,000, and net earnings for the first quarter showed an increase of $220,000 over 1938.

CHAMBERLAIN DENIES CHARGE ENCIRCLEMENT

Germany, Italy Would Not Be Excluded From Non-Aggression Front

By J. F. SANDERSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, May 3.—Germany and Italy would not be excluded from Europe's anti-aggression front if they showed willingness to participate in the general objective of the scheme, Prime Minister Chamberlain indicated in the House of Commons today.

The prime minister was asked by Arthur Henderson, Labor, "whether in view of the fact that Herr Hitler has recently charged His Majesty's government with having adopted a policy of encircling Germany and that guarantees on a reciprocal basis were proposed by President Roosevelt in his recent peace appeal, His Majesty's government would be willing to give a guarantee to Germany similar to that given Poland on a reciprocal basis."

NO FOUNDATION

"In recent statements I have made it clear there is no foundation whatsoever for the charge that the British government have adopted a policy of encircling Germany," Mr. Chamberlain replied.

He added: "What President Roosevelt proposed and what I understand Herr Hitler to offer is an exchange of assurances of non-aggression rather than a guarantee on a reciprocal basis such as recently was given Poland.

"The British government are certainly ready to consider proposals for an exchange of reciprocal assurances with the German government."

INAUDIBLE REPLY

Mr. Chamberlain smiled and gave an inaudible reply when Mr. Henderson asked if the government would take the "proper steps" to have the prime minister's statement drawn to the attention of the government.

There was no answer when Lieut.-Commander Reginald Fletcher, Labor, asked if reciprocal assurances exchanged at Munich had not since been found worthless.

Philip Noel Baker, Labor, asked the government to make plain that assurances "may be withheld in by any government prepared in good faith to renounce aggression."

AGAINST AGGRESSION

The prime minister replied that the guarantees to Poland, Rumania and Greece by Great Britain were "against aggression and solely against aggression." He said he had no doubt the government would be glad to consider any proposals for their extension.

The cabinet was reported reliably to have rejected Russia's proposal for a joint guarantee by Great Britain, France and the Soviet to all Baltic and Black Sea states.

It was reported, however, the cabinet would urge the Soviet government to "reinsure" Anglo-French commitments to Poland and Rumania.

The cabinet was said to have taken this decision after Poland told Great Britain she preferred to make a separate agreement with Russia.

After reviewing separate contracts with Poland, Rumania, Finland, Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania, Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax was said by reliable sources to have recommended to the cabinet that Britain tell Russia:

1—That Britain can not enter into a triple entente guaranteeing there against Poland and Rumania do not want a flat guarantee by Russia without provision for them to specify when it will operate;

2—That Britain is eager to continue discussions with Russia with the ultimate formation of a British-French-Russian alliance of mutual military aid.

Lord Halifax was said to have recommended that Britain urge Russia to declare she is prepared to support the British-French guarantees to Poland and Rumania "if, and when" her support is desired.

NOT CONCRETE ENOUGH

Russian quarters maintained that if the position as outlined were still the British stand it was "not concrete enough."

The Russians visualize a specific, detailed agreement by which the three great powers would settle precisely how they are to help one another in the event of war.

Despite the British stand, it is believed the conversations will not be allowed to break down.

Live Coals Cause Blaze At Rimbey

Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

RIMBEY, May 3.—Fanned by a strong southerly breeze, live coals in an ash pile started a blaze along a wooden fence at Rimbey recently that almost started a major conflagration. The wind carried sparks from the blaze over the business section of the town and a volunteer fire brigade, aided by the recently installed chemical tanks, had some difficulty in saving the situation. All buildings and grass in the town are in tinder-like condition, and the menace of fire has the townspeople worried.

GROUP TALKS SALARIES FOR SCHOOL STAFF

Board Willing To Hear Complaints—G. F. Hustler Gets Praise

Complaints of the maintenance staff of the Edmonton Public school board with regard to their salary schedule will be welcomed by the board it was stated Tuesday evening at a meting of the board's property committee.

Motion of Trustee F. Armour Ford covering this statement, was prompted by Alf Parmilo, general secretary of the Trades and Labor Council, who said that the salary schedule paid by the board was considerably lower than that of the city and that if the board raised it systematically each year, it would still be a number of years before it came near the average fee paid in the city service.

1936 SCHEDULE

Trustee George Gleave explained that the 1936 schedule was in effect at the present time.

"It has always been the policy of the board to deal fairly with the tradesmen and we take into account the fact that they are steadily employed and that they have no lost time as they would have on their own," Trustee A. E. Ottewell said.

Trustee Ford wanted to know how the salaries compared with the actual amount earned if paid for by the hour. "It comes out about equal," Mr. Parmilo answered.

GARDENING PROJECT

Request of Principal G. F. Hustler of Bennett school for 150 feet of rubber hose was granted. "His project of school gardening has been such a success," Trustee Mrs. I. Ross said, "that I would like to see Mr. Hustler have all the help we can give him."

"There has been a marked improvement in the actions of the boys and girls in that district in the past ten years, and it is due to the work of Mr. Hustler," Trustee Walter Morrish said, "and I think we should help him all we can."

Young Bandits Ride Bicycles, Snatch Purse

Snatching a purse from Miss Emily Paradis, 9922 111 street, when she was walking at 110 street and 100 avenue at 10 p.m. Tuesday, a youth ran a short distance east on 100 avenue, jumped on his bicycle, and rode away north, accompanied by two other youths on bikes.

The purse contained $45 in cash. A search of the neighborhood by detectives failed to locate the youth, described as about 17 or 18 years old, tall, wearing a brown suede jacket.

School Boys Form Volunteer Brigade In City Home Fire

Schoolboys playing in the Normal school grounds at University avenue and 112 street Monday afternoon noticed smoke coming from the nearby home of Mrs. G. Foster, 11361 University avenue.

The eight boys ceased their baseball game and converged on the house, removing furniture and a pet canary from the interior to the front lawn, and then aided in fighting the fire in the house until firemen arrived.

The boys were Buddy Seager, 16; Leslie Sloan, 16; Roland Lazerte, 14; Neil Duncan, 13; Walter Blanch, 14; Harold Payne, 12; Richard MacDonald, 12; and his brother Donald, 13.

Abbott Flies East To Discuss Plans For Royal Visit

P. W. Abbott, K.C., chairman of the Royal Visit committee, flew to Ottawa Tuesday night via Trans-Canada Airlines to see government officials there about details of the Royal Visit. He will return to the city on Thursday. Robert English, committee secretary, said that Mr. Abbott had gone to Ottawa to round out final details about arrangements being made here by the Royal Visit Committee.

200 Leave City For North Work: Others Go Soon

Enroute to far northern points, where they will be employed mostly by transportation companies, around 200 men left the city Tuesday aboard the N.A.R. train for Waterways. It is expected that more will leave next week. Among those leaving were Hugh Morrison, who has charge of stores and supplies for the Northern Transportation company; Matthew Bender, foreman for the same company; C. S. Mills, purser on the "Queen" and Jack Lakeman, agent for the Northern Transportation company at Fort Fitzgerald.

His Hand's On The Throttle

ENGINEER DUNCAN CAMERON

When the C.N.R. train carrying Their Majesties pulls out of the station here after their Edmonton visit on June 2, Engineer Duncan Cameron will be at the throttle of the engine which pulls the train. His railroading experience goes back to 1893 when he started in on the trans-Canada run between Ottawa and Cotue. In 1895 he came west and helped build the C.P.R., the Canadian Northern and the Great Northern roads. In 1903 he joined the C.P.R. as a wiper at Revelstoke. In 1907 he worked on construction trains with the G.T.P. between Portage la Prairie and Edmonton. He was named engineer in 1907, working out of Rivers, Man. In 1910 he moved to Watrous. In 1911 he came to Edmonton and has been on the C.N.R. passenger service ever since, railroading on the Edmonton-Wainwright run for the past three years.

Question of Exporting Canadian Nickel For War Purposes Is Raised

By THOMAS WAYLING
Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

OTTAWA, May 3.—The vexed question of exporting Canadian nickel for war purposes, real or intended, has been raised again by queries in the British and Canadian parliaments.

There has been a terrific increase in the export of Canadian nickel to Germany in recent years — but neither the government of Canada nor the Canadian exporters can say how much of this nickel was intended or used for munitions.

EXPORTS INCREASED

In four years the Canadian exports of nickel to Germany have increased from $12,233 to nearly a million dollars. In 1935 Canada sold to Germany 385 hundredweights for which she received $16,233. In 1936 this took a huge jump to 10,136 cwt worth $436,551.

In 1937 the export of nickel to Germany reached the unprecedented height of 22,151 cwt worth $916,005. There was a falling off last year to 20,233 cwt worth $702,291.

Repeatedly, Canada has studied the problem of conserving her nickel for industrial purposes and prevent it being used for instruments of death.

EXPORT PROHIBITED

During Italy's war in Abyssinia the export of nickel to Italy was prohibited. The Italian buyers simply bought from American who imported nickel from Canada without divulging its destination. Whenever Canada has tried to stop the sale of her nickel for war purposes she has been confronted with the difficult problem of prohibiting such nickel without interfering with legitimate business.

The Dominion is confronted with an additional difficulty in the present case, the fact that Germany is not at war and is importing all her nickel on a commercial basis. Refusal by Canada to sell nickel to Germany would complicate trade relations.

R.C.M.P. Expected Guard Buildings At Royalty Visit

In common with announced plans in other Canadian provinces, it is believed here that R.C.M.P. will take over control of the legislative buildings in Edmonton during the Royal Visit June 2.

According to police officials, no instructions to that effect have been issued, although the matter has been discussed.

Legislative buildings at Winnipeg will be under control of the R.C.M.P. during the Royal Visit to that city May 23.

Pass keys to the Winnipeg buildings will be given to the police, who will regulate the persons allowed to enter the buildings.

SEDGEWICK MAN RECOGNIZED AS COMET WITNESS

Lewis V. Smith of Sedgewick, Alberta, has been officially recognized by Harvard University as the discoverer of a new comet he saw on the night of April 15, according to a letter from Harlow Shapley, director of the Harvard observatory, to Dr. J. W. Campbell of the University of Alberta mathematics department.

The letter read: "Mr. Lewis V. Smith was apparently the discoverer of the comet, and it is likely that we can so arrange the announcements that he will receive due credit as an independent discoverer. Please extend to him my compliments and congratulations and ask him to write me directly the circumstances of his discovery of the comet."

An astronomer in Oslo, Norway saw the comet on April 16, but Mr. Lewis saw it on the night of April 15 and wrote to Dr. Campbell about it.

The new comet, which was apparently travelling in the direction of the constellation of Perseus, has not yet been named.

SUDETEN PARTY VISITS CITY ON WAY TO TUPPER

A party of 17 Sudeten German families passed through Edmonton Monday en route for Tupper, B.C., in the Peace River block, where they will joi the first party of 98 persons which passed through here two weeks ago to start life anew on farms. Monday's party numbered 53.

They were met by C. A. Buchanan of the colonization department of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and continued northbound on the N.A.R. train. Also at the station to greet them were Edmontonians who were born in Czecho-Slovakia.

More parties of refugees are expected to come to Canada to join the settlement in the Peace River block, it has been reported in dispatches from across the Atlantic. Each family has been given $1,400 with which to establish themselves.

PENSIONS FOR TEACHERS IS BOARD ISSUE

Trustees to Interview Premier on Eligibility of Retiring Men

Policy of the Edmonton Public school board with regard to the position of teachers retiring at the end of June as to whether or not they are eligible for the pension scheme recently passed by the provincial government and coming into effect September 1, will be discussed with Premier Aberhart, minister of education, it was decided at a meeting of the management and health committee Tuesday evening.

At present there are four male teachers due for retirement the end of this school year, the committee stated, and it is undecided as yet, just what pension they will receive other than the usual one year's salary spread over a term of three years. Under the new act each pensioned teacher will receive $25 per month.

OLD CONTRACT

It was suggested by H. Turner, secretary-treasurer, that the question stand over until the first meeting in June since all teachers in question are under the old contract which can be terminated any time of the year.

Trustee A. E. Ottewell stated that a "communication with the minister of education would be in order and would give us our exact stand. We should get a commitment from him if we can as to just what our policy in this instance should be in the new pension scheme."

The board's insurance brokers who are re-appointed every three years are at present Chapman and Sleaser whose term expires very shortly. Further appointments will not be made until the secretary-treasurer investigates the situation.

CLASSES AT OLDS SCHOOL THIS SUMMER

Community Life Project Is Sponsored—Art Training At Banff

Alberta School of Community Life under the direction of the department of extension, University of Alberta, in co-operation with the departments of Education and agriculture, will be held at Olds from July 3 to 15.

Open to all men and women over the age of 17 years, the school will commence its third year as an experiment in adult education. Donald Cameron, who is director of the enterprise, says through attendance at the school new encouragement and inspiration to those men and women who are intimately concerned with the problems of citizenship in their communities may be obtained.

STAFF

Staff will consist of James Murray, B.S.A., principal Olds School of Agriculture; Donald Cameron, department of extension; Prof. Norman A. M. Mackenzie, B.A., LL.B., LL.M., professor of Public and Private International Law of the University of Toronto; Prof. W. M. Drummond, M.A., Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph; Watson Thomson, M.A., extension department; Mary M. Atwater, head of American Shuttle Craft Guild; Gwen Pharis, B.A., playwright; Christine MacIntyre, B.A., home economics; A. T. Kemp, B.S.A., Olds School of Agriculture.

Seventh intensive summer course at the Banff School of Fine Arts will commence August 1 and will run until August 26. Art, theatre and music will be taught.

Staff for theatre classes consists of Dr. F. H. Koch, Joseph F. Smith, E. Maldwyn Jones, Richard MacDonald, who will teach acting, directing, stagecraft, voice, speech and production.

ART STAFF

In art the staff will consist of H. G. Glyde, A.R.C.A. and Bernard Middleton, A.S.A.

Jacques Jolas will be in charge of the music.

Completing the list of summer courses to be held in the province is that in municipal administration offered by the department of extension in co-operation with the Alberta Association of Municipal District Secretary-Treasurers.

Mama May Sip Few Highballs, Judge Decides

PITTSBURGH, May 3.—Drinking an occasional highball or playing a game of penny ante doesn't make a woman unfit as a mother, ruled County Court Judge Samuel J. McKim.

His decision retained for Mrs. William Gourdie custody of her 4-year-old son. The father sued for the boy on the claim Mrs. Gourdie's home with her mother was not a proper environment.

"I drink a highball at times and I play rummy with friends at times for pennies," said the 23-year-old Mrs. Gourdie. "The most I ever lost in a month was 50 cents."

FARM WEEK TO OBSERVE 21ST YEAR IN JUNE

200 Young Men and Women Expected Attend Sessions At Varsity

Farm young people's week at the University of Alberta will this year celebrate its twenty-first anniversary when it is expected that some 200 young men and women will gather in Edmonton during the first week of June. This annual event has proven one of the most successful projects of a provincial extension program unique for its scope and variety since its inception in 1919.

The program includes talks on citizenship, English literature, nature study, field husbandry, stock feeding and judging. Instruction is also provided in folk dancing, group singing, and group games. Visits are made to various industrial plants as well as the Parliament Buildings.

Various tests and competitions have been established and several valuable prizes are now offered by various organizations.

The committee has taken advantage of the circumstance of the Royal Visit to convene a week earlier this year to give the young people attending from the farming districts of Alberta an opportunity of seeing their Majesties when they pass through Edmonton June 2. Arrival day is May 31 and departure day June 9.

Young people intending to enroll should apply to the Director of Extension, University of Alberta, Edmonton.

The 40-40-20 Relief Scheme

The Dominion Government has offered to contribute $500,000 per year to the cost of unemployment relief in Alberta on condition that the Provincial Government contribute an equal amount, thus cutting down the burden on the municipal councils to 20 per cent. The difficulty is that the province has not the money; otherwise the proposal seems to be acceptable to the provincial authorities. The Dominion has been asked to loan the amount, but arrangements have not as yet been made.

As, according to a recent report, the province has been paying the interest on previous loans from the federal treasury, there would seem to be no reason to suppose the request will not be granted. One reason for the change of policy to bring about reduction in municipal contributions is that the Dominion tried to help the municipalities some time ago by increasing the grants to the provinces for that named purpose, but some of the provinces intervened and retained part of the extra money for themselves. That presumably is why the proposed new deal is drawn on definite lines, with assurance to the municipalities that they will get the easement intended for them.

A Highway Long Overdue

Besides spending $500,000 on projects of its own in Alberta, the Dominion is to contribute this year $275,000 to the Provincial Government to assist in the building of tourist highways, and $50,000 for the construction of roads to mining areas; a total in grants of $325,000, and a total expenditure of federal money on works inside and outside the national parks amounting to $825,000.

This sum is only $25,000 more than the Jasper Highway Committee urge should be spent in Jasper Park improvements and in improving the highway to the Park. The Dominion, it was urged in the recent representations made by the Committee, should contribute $250,000 toward the cost of the highway and spend $300,000 to provide facilities in the Park for the rush of tourists that is expected to follow the opening of the Lake Louise-Jasper highway. If on either count the Committee over-estimated, it is also clear that the Government has under-estimated the needs, since it cannot be supposed the bulk of the $275,000 grant for tourist highways is earmarked for the Jasper highway.

Remembering that the Dominion had a deficit of $55 millions last year and is facing another deficit of $60 millions at the end of the present year, it is quite understandable that the urge is toward economy and not |over-spending. But, whatever may be said about keeping down outlay in the Park, the completion of the highway to the Park is a matter of urgent importance alike to the usefulness of the Park, the success of the bid for tourist traffic, and in fairness to the settled section of the central and northern prairie country.

From the official Ottawa point of view Jasper Park may be only an area lying somewhere beyond Banff and to be considered as an annex thereto. That is a misconception of the first rank. Jasper is also the nearest and the natural mountain holiday resort for more than half the population of Alberta and for residents of northerly Saskatchewan and Manitoba also. To it they should be given access by motor car over a standard highway of the park-approach type.

Supplementary estimates, it is not too late to hope, will yet be brought down at Ottawa including a sum, sufficient and specific, to meet the Dominion's share of putting the highway in standard condition for motor traffic.

Another Oil Problem

The National Dairy Council has long been urging that specific duties be imposed upon vegetable oils entering Canada, on the ground that these oils reduce the consumption of butter, lard and tallow in Canada and thus depress the prices these products bring to the farmer. The Tariff Board in a recent submission recommended that an excise tax of three cents per pound be imposed upon these oils when used in making vegetable shortenings and lard compounds, and two cents per pound on the oil content of soaps, the tax to apply alike to imported and Canadian-made products.

In his budget speech the Minister of Finance said the proposal had been submitted to the British Government for consideration. The reason for this is that under the trade agreement Canada promised not to impose duties on vegetable oils, along with a number of British products. Since under that agreement Canada has obtained a market for bacon in Britain said to be worth $40 millions a year, this concession is too valuable to risk by breaking the terms upon which it was granted.

Critics of the proposal contend that the benefit the farmer would get would in any case be small, while the cost of living of the average family would be increased by four dollars per year or more. They point out that Canadians consume more butter than the residents of almost any other country, 32 pounds per year each, and that the year of the greatest butter consumption was also the year of the heaviest import of vegetable oils; suggesting that the import of oils had little if any influence on the amount of butter consumed.

An increase in the price of shortening might increase the price of lard. But as the duty on United States lard is 1¾ cents per pound, the Canadian price cannot be maintained above that level. It is now about ¾ cents above the U.S. price, indicating 1 cent per pound as the maximum gain that could result if shortening went up in price. On the 50 million pounds of factory lard produced in Canada, it is argued farmers could not get more than $500,000 extra for their hogs as a result of the possible increased price for lard.

The price of cattle could not, it is claimed, be affected because tallow from Australia and New Zealand now enters Canada free of duty.

Under the trade agreement, bacon exports from Canada, most of which go to the United Kingdom, have grown from $2,914,000 in 1931 to $28,801,000 in 1937; while during this period the price of hogs is said to have moved upward more than 5 cents per pound, or about $11 per hog. It is suggested that the net result of increasing the cost of shortening by taxing the imported oils would be to replace millions of pounds now made by Canadian labor from British oils and substitute for this lard produced in the United States.

Evidently vegetable oils play a good deal more important part in the national economy than the average citizen has supposed, and the question of imposing a specific tax on them is one with a good many angles, about which a lively controversy might develop. The obligation to submit the proposal to the authorities in London is obvious; and it is equally obvious that it would be bad business for the Canadian farmer to impose the oil tax without their full consent.

Fighting Each Other's Wars

Father Coughlin, of radio fame, is being quoted as having said this in a speech last Sunday:

"The Governments of England and France will defend their so-called democracies until the last American dollar is spent and until the last American doughboy is slain."

This is the sort of thing about which we could become highly indignant, but what's the use? It is better just to quote this sentence from an editorial in the New York World-Telegram:

"As long as the British and French fleets are afloat we have nothing to fear in the Atlantic."

That seems to answer the reverend gentleman from Michigan.—Ottawa Journal.

"We Are at War"

By Charles Benedict in the Magazine of Wall Street, New York

There are too many people who do not recognize that we have been involved in war for some time. To be sure, it is a new type of warfare that the dictatorships are waging against us. It is not a war fought by soldiers in the battlefield—but a war nevertheless, waged to destroy us by undermining our markets, tearing down our price structure, dislocating our economic machinery, and through fear and uncertainty so to demoralize our civil population as to slow down business and destroy morale.

The swift, unexpected shocks which climaxed a series of events and rumors of troop and naval movements have been deliberately planned. They have taken their toll in our markets, as we all know from recent experience. They have brought on waves of selling augmented always by distressed offerings from abroad, while the uncertainty as to the future has created suspense and slowed down our business machinery.

This diabolical method of attack has been worked with great success since the Nazis took Austria that the European markets are being virtually closed to us. We will be obliged to put up a strenuous battle for trade in South America. Where formerly we had to meet concerted action from the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo axis, Franco's victory in Spain adds another enemy. Already Puerto Rico and the Philippines are being deluged with propaganda, and Nazi agents are working to prepare the ground for demands that they be returned to their "Mother" Spain.

That is how close the European situation is to us today.

The recent admirable effort of our President clears the air as far as the German and Italian nationals are concerned. It calls the attention of every nation to their enemies, and places any war blame where it belongs, if a clash of arms should ultimately result. It also subtly suggests to Mussolini that he can, without the risk of having the Nazis on his frontiers, and without conflict, secure his essential raw materials as well as room for expansion of the growing population —which are the things for which the Italians are presumably fighting.

President Roosevelt knows that the cry for raw materials markets is a subterfuge to cover Nazi ambitions of world domination. I single out the Nazis because Japan is operating only in the Far East (at least at the moment), while Mussolini can secure nothing under present circumstances except by the grace of Germany.

As the maps, which were distributed by the Nazis after they took over the Sudetenland, indicate German ambitions are limitless. Their plan of conquest, laid out for years ahead, are maturing with rapidity not believed possible until they took Austria, and so secured the key to the communication and transportation systems for all of Europe.

In no position to wage a long war—which would necessarily be the outcome of a European conflagration in which all the important nations were involved—the Nazis still could have been stopped at Czecho-Slovakia. Munich gave Germany forty fresh divisions of some of the finest troops and outstanding artillery men in Europe.

It gave her the famous Skoda munition works and further bolstered her strength with more aircraft and strategic materials. To this great gain must be added also the important advantage which enables Hitler to release an equal number of German divisions for military duty elsewhere. The Nazis will need only to resort to policing her new territory to hold it in line.

As far as England is concerned, what started out to be merely a "last-chance" policy became a political and territorial disaster of first importance. After Munich the Nazis were no longer in the position of petitioners for British loans. They could make demands then—and like all blackmailers, keep on demanding one concession after another.

Chamberlain's belated change of front with the offer of guarantees to various countries does not, up to the moment, represent anything really tangible. This is evidenced by the currently reported deal between the Poles and the Nazis over Danzig. The Poles know that Britain cannot come to their assistance by land, and by sea that portion of the British navy which could be spared from the Mediterranean would receive strong German opposition enroute to the Baltic.

In the meantime, Germany has further countered the suggestion of British assistance to Poland by concentrating the German navy near the Canary Islands and Spain; and the press is full of rumors that an attempt will soon be made to bottle up the English fleet that is in the Mediterranean.

At the same time, Mussolini is getting into position near the Dardanelles and Japan is menacing French Indo-China at Hainan and Singapore from the Spratley Islands.

It is this situation which faced President Roosevelt with the certainty that the outbreak of war would involve the whole world in a general conflagration that could destroy modern civilization as we know it.

Under such circumstances, it seems a wise precaution to send our fleet to the Pacific, particularly since neither the German nor Italian navy are dangerous to us on the Atlantic so long as the fleets of Britain and France are on the job.

Ours is now a situation calling for positive and courageous action. We must use the weapons at hand—and there are plenty of them. Our trade agreements have been worked out as a series of arrangements with other countries on a favored nation basis, that is, equal advantages for all those who give us equal advantages. This can readily be applied to all other relationships with foreign countries.

In the way we should stop foreign balances from leaving this country, and refuse to send anything but goods, in the same way the dictators are handling our nationals. We should not permit foreign agents' printed matter, and other forms of propaganda, to be disseminated among our people unless the other countries give us the same liberties and privileges. In a word, we have the necessary weapons with which to combat intelligently our enemies. Not to use them effectively and forcefully would be the height of nat.ional folly. A world crisis confronts us. We cannot meet it supinely. The times challenge us to bold and determined policies.

"People are more interested now in things that will work than they are in mere change."—Raymond Moley.

The Passing Show

By J. S. COWPER

We've heard so often of youths being disinherited for running away to sea or seeking lives of adventure that the lot of Caesar Almieda is worth chronicling. Caesar is 32 years of age and has been down on his luck of late. He ran away to sea at the age of 13 and has been working as a watchman of late.

REWARDS FOR RUNNING AWAY

Three weeks ago his wife left him "for no reason at all."

Fie, Caesar, women always have reasons for such acts. However, Caesar last week was standing in front of his cheap rooming house in Boston, pondering over his misfortune when a lawyer who had been trailing him from place to place for the last eight months, arrived to tell him that his uncle Joseph has died, leaving him $85,000 in admiration for his spunk in running away to sea as a boy.

That should end Caesar's troubles for a while. His wife will now have an excellent reason for returning.

Police news is always interesting for its revelations of the frailties of humankind. Vancouver is now revelling in a horrible case where a young white man of 21 with two white companions, a girl of 19 and a youth of 17, are accused of murdering a wealthy Chinese for what money he carried. The girl, it is said, had visited his hotel room and discovered he carried money on his person.

A TREATMENT FOR TRAITORS

A less understandable case is that of Joseph Kelly, 30-year-old Lancashire laborer, who is charged with having sold secret plans of the great shell factory at Euxton to the German Consulate at Liverpool. He received, it is said, a sum of thirty pounds for his betrayal, after paying a visit to Germany.

The factory, which has 14,000 employees, is one of the largest of the royal ordnance plants. When the King visited it last month he made a seven-mile tour in a car inside the factory grounds. About $40,000,000 have been spent on developing the plant. The plans Kelly sold would enable an enemy bomber to drop bombs so as to cause the greatest loss of life.

If proven guilty the authorities shouldn't give Kelly a long term of imprisonment. They should turn him over to the thousands of Lancashire factory wenches whose lives he plotted. They'd do the job more effectively and without expense to the state.

War, with its espionage systems, sabotage and betrayals, isn't conducted by the modern nations with the observance of chivalry and honor shown by the pagan Romans. In your Plutarch you'll find a story to ponder on, about Camillus and the Falerians. Camillus has been called the second founder of Rome. A capable general, he was five times chosen to be dictator. When alone in authority, says Plutarch, he exercised power as if he ruled in common. He was modest, wise and magnanimous.

CAMILLUS WAS A GENTLEMAN

When Camillus laid siege to the well-fortified city of Faleril, the Falerians felt so sure of themselves that business went on as usual in the city. A schoolmaster used to lead his boys each day outside the city walls, for exercise.

Designing to betray the fellow-Falerians, the schoolmaster led his charges daily further and further away, till at last he was able to deliver them into the hands of the Romans to be used as hostages.

When treachery was reported to Camillus he refused to take advantage of it, saying that while war was necessarily attended by much injustice and violence, there are certain laws that all good men observe even in war. "Nor is victory," he added, "so great an object as to induce us to incur for its sake obligations for base and impious acts."

Camillus supplied the boys with rods and scourges and bade them drive their treacherous teacher back to the city he had sought to betray.

THE TIE OF HUMOR

I know a widow with an only son who has carried on victoriously, and has a happy life. The boy who was left fatherless as a child is now a college graduate, a congenial companion of his mother, and a fine man.

It seems to me that the quality, next to courage, which has carried these two through the long, hard years, is a sense of humor that is a family inheritance. There is almost always a twinkle in their eyes. They see the amusing side of life, and never take themselves or their fortunes too seriously. This wholesome quality binds the two together in rare unity.

And I strongly suspect that beneath this keen sense of humor lies an intelligent faith that, since God is on His throne and life is in His keeping, it is a matter of confidence in Him to go through the days extracting the full enjoyment from each experience.

Save us from over-serious and lugubrious faces, O Lord. Give us happy hearts to enjoy Thee and Thy world. Amen.

A Young Man's View

Editor Bulletin: Up until a short time ago I was content to be just one of the many thousands that throng our streets today, doing our daily tasks and hoping that sooner or later the economic situation would adjust itself and that the youth of today would have the same opportunities that the youth of the last generation had. I was rudely awakened from this humdrum existance by the reading and study of the editorials of some of the Canadian and British papers and suddenly realized that in the last few years everything seems to have made a change of progress except our financial build up, and that unless some radical changes took place we would still be in the same old rut twenty years from now. It appears that some change is looming on the horizon. Although faint at the present time, come it will, but when, and what form it will take, is hard to determine.

It is natural that only a certain percentage of the people will agree with me, in fact I am fully expecting the critics to raise up in arms and tell me just where to head in. Perhaps it is a mistake to attempt them with my humble opinion, but being somewhat of a critic myself I can realize that it is a matter of policy on their part. They may even go so far as to say that I am extremely radical even to the point of being red. I do not agree although I am somewhat of a communist. If the people the world over would only be honest with themselves and face the facts instead of hoping and wishing just because they want it their way, they would do a lot towards helping to solve our economic problems.

They would realize that our present system of economics and finance are on the verge of collapse. In fact that it is now in its death struggle and must die before we are to have social security again.

Even our federal government has stated that it does not intend to balance the budget this year. Why? Because it is impossible to do so. Surely this is the first sign that something is wrong with our present system, and that our system of dollars and cents, which mean nothing except buying power, is about to blow up. Another earlier sign was when we went off the gold standard. Do we see any signs of adopting this basis of wealth again? Of course not; not while the world is in the uncertain position that it is today.

If war should come, which seems inevitable, how long can our nations last without conscription of wealth and property? Not long; and if this should take place the very dollar that you have in your pocket might just as well be in the street gutter, for all of us would be working for the nation, and be paid with government vouchers which would mean buying power for all.

Of course the larger financial organizations such as banks, life insurance and finance companies, and the stock market, would fight this off as long as possible because it would mean the closing down of all industries that prosper by the use of other peoples money at an interest rate that is out of all proportion to trade and commerce today. In the event of no war we are liable to find ourselves trudging along in the rut for a long time yet, held there by the old line parties that can see no further than their own life time and are content to let the next generation solve the problem.

I am satisfied that sooner or later this change is coming, in spite of the capitalists. Each year a few more drop into the ranks of the unemployed and each year it costs the government more for relief funds. Boiled down to a fine point the relief system is nothing but social credit in a modified form.

I heard a prominent business man say the other day that in his opinion the markets would close down for good in 1940. Just picture the panic this would cause, perhaps a panic bordering on revolution.

If you take the trouble to read Bellamy's "Looking Backward" you will see that even in the last century there was one man that could see far enough ahead to predict the collapse of our present financial build up. To me it seems inevitable that a social credit system, not only provincial but nation wide, must come if we are to survive the crash we are headed for.

If this question of social credit was looked into carefully it shows that perhaps a few would lose by it, but for every one that lost thousands would gain. It must eventually come to this point where everything is controlled by the government and the sooner the better.

What we need today are young men with ideas to lead us; men who can make up their minds as to what is best for the public, with the courage of their convictions to carry out their ideas regardless of personal gain or loss.

Of course none of these things may happen but while all things are not probable anything is possible.

In spite of my former political views, if social credit is the remedy for our present situation, I am for it and all for it. And I see no other way out.

If our people would only see the advantages to be gained for the nation as a whole instead of personal gain, we would soon settle down to peaceful and smooth industrial world, each doing his or her share and feeling that we were secure under a system that no person can capitalize on.

BROKEN BUMPER CAUSES MISHAP AT BORDER TOWN

A broken bumper caused injury to two people and severely damaged a car in an accident early Tuesday morning at Lloydminster. The front bumper of the car, dragging along the ground, caught, throwing the car into the ditch. The accident occurred near Lloydminster.

Occupants of the car at the time of the accident were Vic Brystom of Streamstown, owner and driver of the car. Rose Miller and Gladys Brostie of Lloydminster and Len Plater of Streamstown. Neither of the young men were injured but Miss Miller was taken to the hospital suffering from shock and a severe shaking up, while Miss Brostie suffered a bad gash on the throat, where she was cut by a spoke from the steering wheel.

Forest fires are still raging in the vicinities immediately south and west of town, despite the fact that two crews of fighters have been sent out to cope with the flames. Monday the fire near the lookout tower on House Mountain gained headway and the crew were forced to fight most of the night in order to prevent the burning of the tower itself.

VIKING

Local ex-service men are signing up for service at home in case of war developing. They are eager to to their bit again in any way they can.

Seeding has commenced and several hundreds of acres are already completed. An ominous dust storm on Saturday gave rise to grave fears of drouth, but the winds are back to their normal gait.

Dr. and Mrs. G. C. Haworth have returned from a month's holiday spent in California and other coast points.

The school board and the hospital board are studying ways and means to enlarge the present buildings, which are overcrowded.

FORESTBURG

Two-year-old Merlyn Felzien narrowly escaped death recently when he fell under the wheels of his father's truck as it was backed out of the garage. The lad was rushed to the doctor at Forestburg and later taken to the hospital at Galahad. Examination revealed a cracked collarbone. He is being observed for possible internal injuries.

ERSKINE

A stubble fire got out of control over the week-end about eight miles southwest from Forestburg. Fanned by a heavy wind, the fire swept from section 6 over section 7 and was stopped on section 8, but not until three granaries containing 2,000 bushels of grain and the stable on the farm occupied by Paul Schmiske had been destroyed.

Field work is now general and once again the seed is going rapidly into the ground. The soil is in good condition and the hum of tractors may be heard early and late. The Pensky men are running day and night shifts while all farmers are putting in long hours.

BASHAW

FUNERAL RITES HELD ON MONDAY BASHAW PIONEER

Last rites for one of the early pioneers of the Bashaw district, Mrs. Dan Skode, 85, were held from the family residence near Bashaw, Monday afternoon. Rev. S. Keachele, son-in-law of the deceased woman, conducted the funeral service, assisted by Rev. Walker.

Born in Germany in 1854, she married the late Dan Skode in 1874 and came to the United States in 1885, settling in South Dakota. The family moved to the Bashaw district in 1900. Mr. Skode died in 1934. Before her marriage, Mrs. Skode was Mary Schaar.

Mrs. Skode, a nurse before her marriage, was well-known in the early days of the west as mid-wife. At times she rode many miles, under all sorts of conditions to bring aid to expectant mothers. She brought close to 300 children into the world in South Dakota and Alberta without the assistance of a doctor.

Surviving are four daughters, Mrs. H. Falk of Cloverdale, B.C., Mrs. J. Cheurman, Mrs. S. Keachele, and Mrs. O. Nelson, all of Bashaw; four sons, Herman of Westlock, Oscar of Edmonton and Godfrey and William of Bashaw; 37 grandchildren and 23 great grandchildren.

Interment took place in the Mirror cemetery.

Death Sunday of Mrs. F. J. Wilcox, close neighbor and friend of the Skode family, robbed Bashaw of practically the last pioneer of the district. Mrs. Wilcox settled in the Bashaw area in 1901.

RED DEER

Red Deer Rotarians on Monday evening had as their guests members of the Red Deer Kinsmen Club and the Red Deer Lions Club at supper at the Sylvan Lake Hotel. Rotary President T. H. Edis was chairman and Miss Thelma Graham and Jack Holet staff served an excellent meal. President J. E. MacIntosh introduced members of the Lions Club and R. M. Millard introduced the Kinsmen. There was community singing, a comic song by Mr. Edis and a violin solo by Harold Bone. Max Freedman, of the Edmonton Bulletin, was guest speaker, and gave an interesting address on President Roosevelt's foreign policy. There were about seventy at the gathering and the evening was most enjoyable.

HARDISTY

Musical Festival Great Success In Hardisty District

A very successful musical festival was held at Hardisty last week with some 100 pupils participating. Hardisty, Amisk and surrounding districts competed.

Winners in the various events were as follows:

MUSIC

Grade 1, Avis Wagner of Rosyth; grade 2, Kenneth Clark of Thelma; grade 3, Arthur Rode of Hardisty; grade 4, Mae Wagar of Hardisty; grade 5, Jeanne Chopey of Hardisty and Albert Swiniarski of Hardisty; grades 7-8, Rose Voros of Lewisville and Mike Swiniarski of Hardisty; grade 9, Hildur Soldback of Amisk.

High school, Helen Morrison of Hardisty; girls' solo, Hildur Soldback and Doris Kuel of Amisk; boys' duet, Garnet Hopfe and Kazue Swiniarski of Hardisty.

Hardisty took top honors in the action song and junior play in chorus competition, while the senior play was won by the Thelma students.

ELOCUTION

Grade 1, Alex Elmquist of North Rosyth; grade 2, Doreen Bell of Hardisty; grade 3, Marie Storey of Hardisty; grade 4, David Murray of Hardisty; grade 5, Albert Swiniarski of Hardisty; grade 6, David Krasier of Lewisville; grade 7, Charles Mathews of Hardisty; grade 8, Rose Voras of Lewisville; and grade 9, Doris Kobluzan of North Rosyth.

High school: Bill Burrowa, Jeanette Murray and Sammy Bell, all of Hardisty.

Adjudicators were Mrs. E. Freeman and Mrs. J. Appelby, both of Camrose.

HANNA

A meeting of the Executive of the Trustees' Association of the Sullivan Lake School Division was held in the office of the School Inspector, J. C. Jonason, recently. P. Billwiller was elected Chairman for the ensuing year, with J. Leech, Secretary-Treasurer. It was decided to hold a Trustees Convention as usual this year, the date to be set by the secretary-treasurer, and thus retain the interest of the local trustees in the work done by the Divisional Board.

A short time ago the ratepayers of Hanna approved by a by-law authorizing the Town of Hanna to borrow $100,000.00 from the Federal government to build a water and sewerage plant in Hanna under the Municipal Assistance Improvement Scheme. The plan has received the approval of the Provincial government and approval of the Federal government is now awaited.

Canadian Press Receives Report Of President: Admirable Europe Coverage

TORONTO, May 3. — H. P. Duchemin, K.C., of the Sydney (N.S.) Bar Association told the annual meeting of The Canadian Press today in his presidential address that "it is no exaggeration to say that, The Canadian Press is today giving the Canadian people a news service which is unsurpassed by that of any other country in the world."

Mr. Duchemin described as "admirable" the coverage of European news, particularly during the crisis that culminated in the Munich conference.

Mr. Duchemin said:

"Any discerning survey of the outstanding events on the history of The Canadian Press since we assembled in general meeting a year ago compels the judgment that important new milestones of progress have been achieved by our great organization in the past twelve months.

"I refer particularly to its admirable coverage of the Continent of Europe with respect to the conspiracy of events which culminated in the Munich crisis, and to its prompt and comprehensive reports of developments at Washington relating to the whole international situation.

"The part played by The Canadian Press, in co-operation with the C.D.N.A. and the newspapers of Alberta, in combating the attack of the legislature of that province on the freedom of public expression, may be said to have at once reflected and strengthened the co-operative spirit which is as the breath of life to our Dominion-wide organization.

"Close in sequence after the royal visit, a Dominion general election may add another chapter to this year's heavy program for The Canadian Press throughout the entire network of its member newspapers."

QUESNEL, B.C., May 3—A moose charged Ivan Croft's car on the Quesnel-Prince George highway 24 miles north of here Sunday—but came out second best. Croft went to hospital with glass cuts and his car was damaged, but the moose died.

MINE INDUSTRY HAMPERED BY WAR IS CLAIM

CALGARY, May 30—S. G. Blaylock, president of Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company of Canada, in an interview here Tuesday said that contrary to general belief, the metal market soars in times of peace.

Though nations buy metal for armament purposes, a war hampers the mining industry, he said.

Mr. Blaylock, en route from Montreal to Trail, explained that the reason metals soared in the Great War period was because practically no copper and zinc were refined in the British Empire, and that the United States were pinched in a position to put prices higher.

"This will never happen again," he said. "Copper Canada produces about 575 tons of lead daily at Trail, whereas during the Great War it was producing only 70 tons

CALGARY RELIEF SLASH SET AT $5 MAXIMUM

CALGARY, May 3—At a special meeting of the Calgary civic relief committee, less than 20 hours after the city council cancelled clothing allowances for unemployed, George Thompson, relief superintendent, was instructed to set the maximum reduction for any family at $5 a month.

The deductions, approved by city council Monday night, would have reduced the maximum relief allowance for a family of 11 persons from $71 to $60 a month.

The maximum relief for any family of eight or more persons previously was $71, including $1 a person clothing allowance.

VOLUNTEERS IN GREAT BRITAIN ENCOURAGED

POLLE, Dorsetshire, May 3. — The Hawker firm of Sherry and Haycock decided to help the government's territorial army recruiting campaign. The company offered employees who enlist in the territorials wage increases of 60 cents a week, promised them time off to go to camp, in addition to their regular holidays, and said their jobs would be kept open for them if they had to go to war.

Sugar Beets Are Above Ground In South Alberta

LETHBRIDGE, May 3 — Sugar beets are out of the ground in the district as growers wind up their seeding operations. Today, about 80 per cent of the beet acreage was planted, and with continued ideal weather, planting of the entire 20,500 will be concluded shortly.

Many growers are irrigating their beetlands to promote growth and add to the moisture already found in the soil. Seeding of grain, too, is progressing rapidly, especially in southern portions of the district where rains Sunday brightened prospects for good germination.

Tax Rate Set

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C., May 3.—New Westminster's tax rate for 1939 has been set at 70 mills, levied on land only. The city council decided to increase the rate five mills from 1938. For the first time in some years the council made provision for a sinking fund payment.

Tea Bridge Is Delightful Affair

One of the most delightful of spring-time tea parties was that arranged by Miss Florence Cottingham in the Macdonald hotel on Tuesday afternoon when she entertained a large number of her friends at bridge and tea.

BRIDGE PLAYED

Bridge was played in the Jasper room of the hotel and later tea was served in the drawing room, where the warm sunshine of a glorious spring day shone through the wide windows.

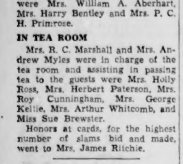

To receive her guests Miss Cottingham was very gracious and charming in a springtime frock in white.

Cut spring blossoms were used in attractive floral profusion throughout the rooms and on the effectively appointed tea table where presiding at the tea urns were Mrs. William A. Aberhart, Mrs. Harry Bentley and Mrs. P. C. H. Primrose.

IN TEA ROOM

Mrs. R. C. Marshall and Mrs. Andrew Myles were in charge of the tea room and assisting in passing tea to the guests were Mrs. Holly Ross, Mrs. Herbert Paterson, Mrs. Roy Cunningham, Mrs. George Kellie, Arthur Whitcomb, and Miss Sue Brewster.

Honors at cards, for the highest number of slams bid and made, went to Mrs. James Ritchie.

There seems t' be some laundry soap here an' some hand soap, but I don't see no ear soap, so I guess that lets me out.

MEN LOVE GIRLS WITH PEP

If you are peppy and full of fun, men will be attracted to you and parties.

BUT if you are nervous, listless and tired, men will not be interested. Men don't like "sour" girls. When they go to parties they want girls along who are full of pep.

So if you need a good general system tonic remember for 3 generations one woman has told another how to get "smiling pep" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps build up more physical resistance and thus aids in giving you more pep and happier days free from functional disorders.

You'll feel Pinkham's Compound WELL WORTH TRYING!

Twenty Years A Reporter Not Nearly Enough Says Charming City Visitor

STILL eagerly enthusiastic for newspaper work after nearly 20 years as a reporter, Miss Beatrice Phipps of the Toronto Evening Telegram, a visitor in Edmonton on Tuesday, feels that it is a great work for women. "At one time," Miss Phipps laughingly remarked to a reporter from The Edmonton Bulletin on Tuesday afternoon, "I used to turn up my nose at working in the women's department of a paper, but now I think they have real and enviable opportunities."

Miss Phipps, a general reporter on the Toronto Evening Telegram, has been holidaying at the Pacific coast, and during a one-day visit in Edmonton en route back to the east was a guest at the west-end home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas N. Dwan.

FIRST VISIT HERE

Although it is the first time she has ever stopped off in Edmonton, Miss Phipps feels that Edmonton is an old friend "for I knew your lovely Canuck Mary Schroter, proudest of the finest women I ever knew."

"The one thing I hold against the west is that they take some of our most brilliant people," she continued, "and although we get a few of yours, not nearly enough."

Stepping off the train on Tuesday morning, Miss Phipps knew instantly that she would love Edmonton with its invigorating air and feeling of space.

TO FIND SPRING

"When I left Toronto on my holiday," Miss Phipps stated, "a blizzard was blowing and my friends warned me that I must find spring somewhere in the west and bring it back with me. I did find it, first in Vancouver, seeing the cherry and almond trees in bloom, in Victoria, midst the lovely flowers and again in Edmonton, with its glorious sunshine and the grass and shrubbery beginning to turn green. Sent on an assignment to find spring, I've found three or four and that ought to please even a city editor."

Since just after Armistice, Miss Phipps has been with the Evening Telegram, with the exception of a few weeks when she worked on the Vancouver Province. As a general reporter, she has covered a variety of "beats" with her two "big" stories those that every reporter gets once in a lifetime covering the Lloyd George tour and George Young's swim to Catalina Island.

Miss Phipps left by train on Tuesday evening for the east, despite the objections of the young son of her hosts, Warren Dwan, who had a lovely model airplane, "Monocoupe," which he had built, ready to place at her disposal.—R. L. M. H.

City I.O.D.E. Units Hold Meetings

Lovely Glerona home of Mrs. Percy Sprague was the setting of the May meeting of the Prince Edward of Kent Chapter I.O.D.E. Monday when Mrs. Roy Schroter, president gave an interesting account of the discussions heard at the recent provincial meeting of the I.O.D.E. held in Calgary, to which she was a delegate. Educational projects discussed at the annual meeting were brought to notice of members by the educational secretary and a donation was made for the furtherance of educational work in the chapter's adopted school.

LETTER OF THANKS

Child welfare convener read a letter of thanks for knitted garments from Miss Mae Bright, matron of the Alberta Maternity Fund. Plans are being made to participate in the annual child welfare tag day and for the annual dance to be held in the Macdonald hotel on June 3.

Mrs. H. C. Russell, Mrs. G. E. Johnston and Mrs. J. C. Jefferson who are new members were welcomed to the club. Mrs. Schroter has opened her home at Bremner for the June meeting.

Elizabeth Mowat

Members of the Elizabeth Mowat Chapter, I.O.D.E. were the guests of the executive committee at a delightful spring tea at the home of Mrs. C. Crofts one day recently. The rooms were colorful with dainty spring blossoms and in the dining room, Mrs. R. E. Jones, regent of the chapter presided at the attractively appointed tea table.

Mrs. H. E. Balfour entertained the members with a talk on her trip to Denmark. Mrs. Dave McNaught was in charge of arrangements and she was assisted in serving by Mrs. Stuart Johnstone, Mrs. H. McPherson, Mrs. H. E. Balfour and Mrs. A. T. Livingstone.

Vegreville Hospital Benefits From Recent Royal Welcome Tea

VEGREVILLE — Proceeds from the "Royal Welcome" tea at which the Vegreville hospital aid entertained a large number of guests recently will be used towards installing a $400 operating room light for the Vegreville general hospital.

A patriotic program was arranged during the afternoon and during the evening a Cinderella dance was held. Presiding at tea was Mrs. K. E. Hoagland assisted by Mrs. R. M. Reid, Mrs. P. C. Litster and Mrs. A. L. Wener.

The program and tableaux were under the direction of Mrs. H. L. Bender. Mrs. George Pusey, Mrs. P. J. Kendal and Mr. S. T. J. Elleriton.

Patronesses for the occasion were Mrs. F. W. W. Fane, Mrs. W. Hayhurst, Mrs. H. S. Hurlburt, Mrs. J. B. Yule, Mrs. A. W. Fraser and Mrs. A. L. Horton.

Mrs. W. A. Headrick and Mrs. E. A. Rodgers acted as treasurers, and Mrs. A. Shaw and Mrs. S. H. Hardin were in charge of decorations.

JARVIS - BOND NUPTIALS ARE HELD TUESDAY

Interest of many friends in social and business circles in the city and Calgary where the bride and bridegroom will make their home is centred in the pretty home wedding ceremony solemnized at the bride's home on Tuesday evening when Gladys May Bond, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Bond of this city became the bride of Mr. Douglas Jarvis of Calgary. Mr. Jarvis is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Jarvis of Halifax, Nova Scotia, and is a radio operator with the Federal Department of Transport. Rev. J. W. Smith performed the ceremony.

Miss Madonna Hurtubise and Mr. Jack Bradley attended the bride and bridegroom at their wedding. Mr. and Mrs. Jarvis have left for Calgary to make their home.

Tea Frock

Ideal for informal afternoon wear is this casual costume, worn by Anita Louise, featuring shirring at the waistline and at the shoulders. Covered buttons are used on the waist length jacket, which has full sleeves, gathered tightly at the wrist. A pill-box model hat completes a charming ensemble.

Mrs. J. K. Crutchfield is leaving on Wednesday evening to attend the annual convention of the Provincial International convention of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen being held in Cleveland, Ohio, commencing on Monday, May 8. Mrs. Crutchfield is delegate from West Edmonton lodge, No. 668, and will return to her home in the city late in the month.

A forthcoming marriage of wide interest to friends in Edmonton and in Nova Scotia is presaged in the announcement of the engagement of Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Benson of this city which tells of the engagement of their younger daughter Jean Dilmars Benson to Rev. Leonard Weldon Mosher, only son of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Mosher of Dartmouth, Nova Scotia. Mr. Mosher is rector of St. Alban's church in Dartmouth, and the marriage will be solemnized in Edmonton in the month of June.

Arranged to compliment graduating nurses of the Edmonton General hospital, who at commencement exercises on Tuesday evening received diplomas, an attractive luncheon party was held in the nurses' home on Tuesday. Prettily decorated in mauve and white, colors of the nursing school, the tables were graced with red roses. Attractive place cards were also in mauve and white. Rev. Leo G. Green presided, and Rev. Father P. J. O'Reilly, chaplain of the hospital and Rev. Father J. P. Connolly added their congratulations to the class. Miss A. M. Mitchell proposed a toast to the nurses, to which Miss M. Matthews a time, the guest of her parents, replied. Delightful musical entertainment was supplied by the junior and intermediate nurses.

Florence Nightingale Pledge Is Taken By 20 Graduates Of General Hospital

SOLEMNLY promising to uphold and elevate the high standards of their profession, 20 sweet young graduate nurses of the Edmonton General hospital repeated the Florence Nightingale pledge in response to Rev. P. J. O'Reilly, S.T.D., chaplain of the hospital, at the principal figures in the commencement exercises of the School of Nursing of the Edmonton General Hospital.

Held in Convocation hall, the exercises marked the twenty-eighth class to graduate from the hospital.

Wearing their smart white uniforms relieved only by a narrow black band at the collar, the young nurses were proud and happy on their graduation day, their shining eyes and radiant smiles as lovely as the red roses they carried.

FLORAL BACKGROUND

Roses, carnations, tulips and spring flowers were used in attractive decoration on the platform, where the nurses and speakers sat during the evening. The front seats of the hall were filled with student nurses from the hospital while the remainder of the hall was crowded with proud parents, relatives and friends of the girls.

Dr. L. P. Mousseau acted as chairman and brought greetings to the nurses from the medical staff of the hospital.

Presentation of diplomas and pins was made by Rev. P. J. O'Reilly, S. T. D. while His Worship Mayor John W. Fry presented Honorary awards to outstanding students. Award for general proficiency, given by the Alumnae Association of the hospital was presented by Miss Isobel Shillabeer, association, Miss Isobel Shillabeer.

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR IS GUEST

In conveying his congratulations to the graduating class, His Honor Captain John Campbell Bowen, Lieutenant-Governor of Alberta said that they had now have reached a goal set before them in the termination of their training but it is only the beginning of larger problems which will confront them. He remarked that the cultural and prestigious rank of the institution has added much of value to their characters and lives.

Dr. W. A. R. Kerr, bringing greetings from the University of Alberta, remarked that the training they had received was in the latest development of the scientific world, and that it had made them truly citizens of the modern world. He remarked, too, that their training had been given them in an atmosphere vitalized by religious faith, which, in the last analysis, is more permanent than any scientific training. He congratulated the Sisters for the service they have given in training the nurses.

ADDRESS TO CLASS

In giving the address to the graduating class, His Excellency Most Rev. J. H. MacDonald, Archbishop of Edmonton said that the nurses are not only in a profession which demands high standards of education but one which demands high moral character. "In no other profession," he remarked, "are such qualifications required, for without high recommendations of character, your education will not admit you to the General Hospital school of nursing."

"If ever we are involved in war, you may rest assured that every member of each '39 will be in there to help the Canadian soldiers." Enthusiastic applause greeted the statement made by Miss Josephine Slavik, who gave the valedictory address on behalf of the graduates. "There are not enough airplanes for us all to be air hostesses," she continued, "but we can be hostesses on land.

"In our training we have learned the dependence of others on us and our dependence on others and we have learned to live our life in charity and justice."

IN APPRECIATION

She conveyed the appreciation of her classmates to their parents, the grey nuns, the clergy, the doctors and the instructors and supervisors.

Madame I. Pepin Olsen, A.T.C.M.-L.R.S.M., presided at the organ and Rev. G. Leo Green sang several enjoyable solos.

Honorary awards are as follows:

General Proficiency—Presented by Alumnae Association of Edmonton General Hospital: awarded to Miss Josephine Slavik.

JASPER JOTTINGS

By FAY PARKER

JASPER, May 3.—Jasper is fast getting into gala holiday attire in preparation for the June visit of Their Majesties King George VI and Queen Elizabeth. Painting and town improvement programs are well under way to make the village look its best for the much anticipated visit, and Connaught Drive, the main thoroughfare, is being cleared and an extensive parking site for automobiles planned.

• • •

The Jasper B. P. O. E. entertained at their lodge of visitors from Edson lodge last week. A smoker was held in the club rooms and H. S. Davis gave a splendid program of colored movies.

• • •

The Jasper Assembly of the Canadian Girls in Training league have elected their officers for the year; Miss M. Mathieson is junior past president; Mrs. Ed. Neighbor is president.

• • •

At the last social evening of the O. O. R. P., Mrs. E. Byrne and Mrs. G. D. McLellan were hostesses. Honors at bridge were taken by Mrs. Bob Baxter and Mrs. A. Richardson.

• • •

Mr. J. A. Wood, superintendent of Jasper Park, gave another of his interesting talks on Grey Owl last Friday evening in the United church, under the auspices of the junior choir. Through close association with the great Canadian naturalist, Mr. Wood is probably better able than anybody else to interpret the writings of Grey Owl, and his large library of books on the humanitarian spirit behind them. In this second address, Mr. Wood explained the awakening of Grey Owl to the need of conserving the creatures of the great forest and how he became their champion. The choir, under the leadership of their director, Choirmaster W. B. Watson, contributed a number well rendered choruses and a club-swinging drill by four of the members and two recitations by little Miss Dorothy Lee added pleasing variety to the program of the evening. Rev. R. E. Finlay was chairman.

• • •

At the annual meeting of the Jasper Ski Club the activities of the past winter were reviewed and plans laid for next year. Officers elected were as follows: honorary president, J. A. Wood, superintendent Jasper Park; president, Lloyd Tyrell; vice-presidents, Roy Fisher, Mrs. W. Hanna; secretary, Miss Dorothy Horsfall; treasurer, James Woodford; executive—Arthur Horsfall, Verne Jeffery, Chas. Bowers, Mrs. H. Kenzil, Harold Taylor, G. Morris Taylor. An advisory council have been formed to include Mrs. Brewster, A. L. Withers and Miss Joan Robson.

Holy Trinity W. A. Plans Spring Tea

Blossoms of the spring time placed attractively throughout the rooms of Mrs. W. L. May's home at 10119 Saskatchewan Drive will provide the seasonable setting for the spring tea at which members of Holy Trinity W.A. will entertain on Friday afternoon from three o'clock until six.

RECEIVING

Mrs. H. C. Petiet, president of the W.A., and Mrs. G. G. Reynolds, wife of the rector of the church, will assist the hostess in receiving the guests.

Presiding at the tea table will be Mrs. C. A. Young, Mrs. C. L. Cliborn, Mrs. Cecil Sutherland, Mrs. S. Blackberry, Mrs. W. H. Parmalee and Mrs. E. G. Cullwick.

Conveners of the affair are Mrs W. B. Chamberlain and Mrs. W. H. Sheppard. Treasurer for the afternoon will be Mrs. E. K. Cox.

IN CHARGE OF KITCHEN

Mrs. P. F. Flowers and Mrs. T. Middleton will be in charge of arrangements in the kitchen and those assisting with the serving will be: Mrs. C. R. Manahan, Mrs. P. D. Fowler, Mrs. John Webster, Mrs. T. K. Huff, Mrs. J. Scholes and Mrs. Harold Wonnacott.

A home cooking table will be convened by Mrs. H. E. Roberts and Mrs. J. W. Mills while a table with home made candy will be in charge of Mrs. Robert Molloy and Mrs. Herbert Saunders.

Dental Nurses Hear Talk By Dr. R. Mooney

Dr. R. A. Mooney, secretary of the Alberta Dental Association was guest speaker following the regular supper meeting of the Edmonton Dental Nurses and Assistants' Association in the Corona hotel Monday evening.

PRESENTATION

Following a short business meeting, Mrs. Glenn Millard, the former Miss Doris Gordon was made the recipient of a lovely gift by Miss Peggy Kyllingstad in behalf of the members.

Arrangements were made for the final meeting to be held in June when election of officers will be held.

MEMBERS PRESENT

Members present were: Miss Peggy Lyllingstad, Mrs. Glen Millard, Mrs. E. Pollard, Miss Margaret Kuklo, Miss Alice Crealock, Miss Eileen Robinson.

Miss Eileen Irvine, Miss Gertrude O'Neill, Mrs. R. Hammond, Mrs. A. Porter Dodds, Miss Charlotte Steele.

Highlands Club Holds First Luncheon

Springtime weather was in tune with the golfers on Tuesday and provided a perfect setting for the luncheon and afternoon's outing on the links, arranged by the Ladies Highland Golf and Country club. Opening luncheon for the season the delightful affair was held in the spacious lounge rooms of the clubhouse where the tables were graced with stocks in rose and mauve color tones, flanked by pastel taperz.

COMPETITION

A two-ball competition was held in the afternoon. Mrs F. J. Mitchell was in charge of arrangements, assisted by Mrs. J. Watson, Mrs. H. Banks, Mrs. Kenneth Stewart, Mrs. M. M. Dunsworth and Mrs. W. S. Taylor.

Other guests present included Mrs. W. L. Purvis, Mrs. J. V. Horner, Mrs. F. Graham, Mrs. J. W. Patrick, Mrs. Aubrey MacMillan, Mrs. A. L. Burgess, Mrs R. Sherlock, Mrs. R. W. Hamilton, Mrs. S. C. Your Health

By DR. FRANK McCOY

Many patients who belch and suffer from gas after a meal, upon examination will be found to be victims of the habit of swallowing air. Usually this habit has been formed unconsciously.

Air swallowing may in some instances be followed by a very painful distention of the stomach. In other instances it may cause only a mild discomfort consisting chiefly of a feeling of fullness.

Nervous patients are especially prone to get into this habit, but even those with normal nerves may unknowingly form the habit of swallowing air.

The scientific term for this disorder is aerophagia. The air may be swallowed with food or drink, during hiccoughs, or during the act of belching. In one of the patients I have examined, it has occurred with gum chewing, the patients unconsciously swallowing great gulps of air while chewing their favorite brand of gum. While this latter is not a common finding, it does occur occasionally.

After the patient has swallowed enough air to make him think he is having a gas attack, he may develop difficulty in breathing, a rapid beating of the heart and a flushed state of the skin. This is because the air-distended stomach will push against the heart and will cause pressure upon certain nerves. The accompanying symptoms such as shortness of breath, dizziness, and irregular heart beat, may cause the patient considerable anxiety.

A correct diagnosis is of the utmost importance because a cure is so simple once this disorder is recognized. Yet many patients with this trouble become convinced they have something seriously wrong with them and drift from doctor to doctor, without ever finding the remedy, which literally lies under their noses.

The easiest way to make the diagnosis is to examine the patient with the fluoroscope. This type of X-ray equipment will easily detect the patient in the act of swallowing. The bolus of air can be seen coming down the esophagus and entering the stomach, sometimes while the patient is engaged in belching and think that he is relieving the stomach of gas. If the patient is a pronounced air swallower, a large enough pocket may be formed to show up with the X-ray like a balloon.

This is one disorder where the dietetic treatment plays a comparatively minor role in the cure. The important thing is to teach the patient how to stop swallowing air. He should be shown that he can not do any air swallowing while the mouth is open. The mouth must first be closed. If he learns to belch with the mouth open, he will not be in any danger of swallowing air at the same time.

Another helpful measure is to learn to chew food thoroughly and to eat slowly. Hurried eating encourages the swallowing of air in large gulps whereas eating more slowly will often prevent this gulping of air which makes the stomach feel so uncomfortable. Nervous patients who are troubled with stomach distention and who know they eat their food too rapidly, will especially benefit from learning this lesson of eating more slowly.

Let Makeup Dramatize Natural Skin Texture

By ALICIA HART

Unless you have blemishes which you want to conceal temporarily, your makeup ought to be light as a feather—a simple, flattering film of cosmetics which dramatizes the natural texture of your skin instead of concealing it.

Pick a foundation preparation that goes on easily, gives the skin a faintly dewy look, and, in addition, makes face powder stay on for hours without appearing to be simply plastered on.

Learn to apply rouge a dot at a time, blending one dot carefully before adding another. Use eye-liner or a pencil to make eyebrows and lashes appear more luxuriant. Use a dot of color on your chin and, except for evening, better not tint ears, either.

To give eyelids a subtly luminous appearance during daytime hours, try covering them with an especially thin film of plain vaseline or a bit of cold cream. Don't put cream underneath eyes or at corners, however. All shadows and brows are quite colorless, by all means darken them with waterproof mascara. Otherwise, it's not a good idea to wear mascara and eyeshadow on the street—certainly never in a business office.

Generally speaking, it is a mistake ever to blend rouge below an imaginary line from tip of nose to bottom of ear. If the upper part of your face is narrow, don't put color too near your nose. Regardless of the size and shape of your face, always blend rouge lightly upward toward eyes to avoid a white streaked appearance between them and rouged cheeks. Never put a dot of color on your chin and, except for evening, better not tint ears, either.

CAST OF CHARACTERS

CAROLEE COLTER, heroine, prospector's daughter.

STUART BLAKE, eastern "dude" tourist; Carolee's lover.

HENRY COLTER, prospector.

PAUL AND SILAS COLTER, prospector's sons.

NINA BLAKE, Stuart's sister.

Yesterday: The Colters resume their search for gold and near the site of Paul's death, find rich ore in a cave. Immediately they establish their claims to the property.

CHAPTER XV

THE few rocks that Paul Colter had clutched in death, and the others that Carolee had found in the cave, proved to be as exciting to the assayer as to the Colters themselves.

"This stuff'll go thousands of dollars a ton, man!" they told Mr. Colter in the Golden West Assay office at Phoenix. "Where'd you get it?"

"I got it staked in Superstition," he replied. "But this is all I could find." He didn't mention his son's death, but he did explain about the cave.

"Oh, that's different, then." They were let down somewhat. "You just found a dribble. Some of that stuff the old Spaniards left up here. Old Miguel Peralta's ever. He worked Superstition. They'd pick up just the best ore to pack back down to Sonora. It was 300-odd miles. They wouldn't carry no more dirt than necessary. They'd store their choicest pickin's in a cave like that'n until they got enough to load their mules, then they'd high-tail on back home with it. Likely you found some they put in there and overlooked. It's been done before. Down where they worked the Virgin of Guadalupe mine near Tubac they done that same thing. We've found their leavings."

* * *

Old man Colter worked his quid of tobacco several seconds before he spoke again. He was considering, sensibly, that if the Spaniards found nuggets of such value in Superstition, there must still be an extremely rich mine near the cave. He was anxious to get back and hunt some more.

"What's there worth, as is?" He pointed to the bag of specimens.

He sold them eventually for $400 cash.

"That's more cash than we've had in 10 years," he confessed to his children, there on the Phoenix street.

They set out to spend part of it. Carolee, having found most of the gold, took charge. She purchased some essentials and a few frills for her mother. She ordered a simple marker, at $35, for Paul's grave. She replenished their grocery supply.

At last she went back to the clothing store she had left and bought herself a new riding outfit. It was not expensive, but it was "nice." She added two new blouses, colored scarves, and a sport hat of felt. Stuart bought himself at a rack of blazer jackets. Handmade of yarn by Indians, one was bright red with Indian symbols woven in of blue and black and gray. She had observed that these were not only fashionable in Arizona but highly practical for the outdoors, and she had a sentimental leaning toward anything western and Indian. She bought the one coat $12.50 and she bought it.

* * *

To come to town, the Colters had staked their saddle horses at the foot of the trail where their old car was kept back in the shades, and motored in from there. Returning they agreed to go by the Lodge to see if the sheriff had, by chance, learned anything that might throw light on the death of Paul.

"Stuart is out shooting at targets, my dear," Nina Blake greeted Carolee. "My but you're lovely! Are you always so fair? You're the prettiest thing Stuart's ever found!"

Nina's admiration was genuine, but her frankness was embarrassing.

"Does he 'find' things often, Nina?" Carolee was a trifle spunky about it.

"Yes, of course. He has, I mean. The handsome men he is very popular. Once he thought himself in love. He has rushed debutantes until they almost purchased trousseaux."

Carolee colored at that. She had just purchased clothes herself—admittedly with the thought of pleasing Stuart Blake.

"Does he say he has 'found' me, Nina? He hasn't mentioned the fact to me, and if he has any idea he can—"

"No no, honey, stop it!" Nina laughed gaily. "The boy's jittery about you, I tell you, and doesn't know how to act. He lost his head since that day in the store, when you first met. I'm just trying to say you can wrap him up and take him home whenever you're ready—although I don't know why you should. He is good looking and generous, but he can't be worth killing otherwise. Why you or any other girl would tolerate him seriously is beyond me."

Carolee wasn't used to such persiflage, yet it didn't seem foreign to Nina. Nina slept a few hours in each 24 and bubbled through the remainder. You couldn't be introspective or serious around her. But Carolee felt confidential; she had a Secret with a capital S, and it had to be told.

* * *

She led the other girl out among the mesquite and cacti near the Lodge and told Nina all about the gold. They had such a talk and intimacy as only girls can have; it satisfied a longing in Carolee that had been never realized. Nina, she decided, was a peach! In spite of her background of wealth.

Suddenly Nina turned to her without laughing, and looked straight into Carolee's eyes.

"You're in love with brother, aren't you?" she stated, rather than asked it. She had her arm around Carolee.

"Um huhm," Carolee admitted, gently, seriously.

"But there are families." Nina went on, "and backgrounds, and—oh, clothes, and money, and prejudices, and all the sort of thing in the world. Stuart has talked to me about them. It's not my business, Carolee, but if you ever decide two months from now that you don't want to marry a man, heaven help him! I don't care if he's king of England or a janitor's helper! I'll go after him with all I've got. I think that's where happiness lies, and I think happiness is just that important!"

Carolee nodded. "I believe you would, Nina," she said, softly, "and I believe you're right."

Indian squaws came up then to offer them baskets and beaded trinkets for sale. At that moment Sheriff Blake rode into the Lodge grounds. He saw the girls and galloped over.

Ignoring the Indians, he kissed his sister and greeted Carolee, and told them the sheriff had found nothing of importance in the mountain. He wanted Carolee to feel he was sympathetic about her brother, anxious to help her in any way.

"Bracelet red like cost." a squaw interrupted, holding out a wrist-let of beads.

Stuart muttered something impatiently, then laughed and bought Carolee the bracelet, and another for Nina, too.

The wrinkled squaw said, reckoning to Carolee's question, that two days were required to make the intricate beading.

"It is beautiful," declared Stuart, admiring Carolee as she put it on—"and it does match your jacket. Say, I never saw this red jacket before!"

Carolee smiled at him kindly irrelevantly, perhaps. Nina began humming.

"Dear Mr. Culbertson: Being just the wife in this case, and not nearly as good a bridge player (in his estimation) as my husband, I would like your opinion on the following hand which came up at duplicate bridge last evening. I was playing South with my husband, North. Our side was vulnerable.

"We use the Blackwood convention and of course my five diamond bid showed one ace and my six heard bid (in response to the five no trump bid) showed two kings. Needless to say, we went down one trick at six no trump and were lucky that it wasn't more. If the spade honors had not been so fortunately placed for us, it would have been a real debacle.

"The argument is this: My husband insists that my rebid, after his forcing three clubs, should have been three no trump, even with a void, to show that I had opened on a minimum. My contention is that with a void, a minimum honor count, and a rebiddable suit, my bid was three spades. Even with the additional distribution, the hand easily makes game in spades. Without a fit in my bid suit, I believe he should have signed off with three no trump, or made some other bid whereby I could have put in a slam try if my hand had been really strong. I dislike very much to avalow my pride in this particular instance, because I do not feel that I did wrong. However, we will abide by your decision.

Mrs. G. C. M., Wisconsin."

My correspondent should most certainly not swallow her pride in this instance, now should she swallow the absurd criticism emanating from her so-called better half. Not only was North's bidding 100 per cent accurate, but his comments on South's responses were, if possible, worse. South's bidding was correct throughout. Holding a seven card spade suit, it was out of the question that she bid anything but three spades in response to three clubs. Even no longer Stuart's suggestion would have been one of the worst bids ever heard on land or sea. Apparently Stuart has no intention that the opening bidder must make artificial rebids to indicate his true trick holding—whether minimum or better than minimum. This does not conform to the practice of all leading players. They feel, logically enough, that if a player has a sound opening bid, his rebids should show his distribution as nearly as possible.

North's bidding left a great deal to be desired. His three club force was extremely questionable and his terrific subsequent bidding, which landed the partnership in a horrible slam contract, was beyond the pale. Four spades was the correct final contract.

Dorothy Dix Says:

Whether a married woman should work outside of her home has become a major domestic problem, and it has as many different sides to it as our complicated modern life. Those who favor it say: (1) That a woman, whether she is married or single, has an inalienable right to exercise such talent as God has given her and to make money in any honest way she can. (2) That for a wife to keep on with a job after marriage relieves the husband of any necessity to marry who could not do so if the entire support of the family fell on his man. (3) That for the wife to follow a gainful occupation eases the husban"s burden and makes it possible for the family to live in a better neighborhood, have better clothes and food, give a better education to the children than it could if the man was the only money earner.

Those who oppose it say: (1) That working wives who have husbands to support them fill the places in the business world that are needed by poor girls who have no one upon whom to depend. (2) That the woman who tries to double in domesticity and business fails between the stools and pulls off a poor job at both. (3) That it breaks down a husband's morale for his wife to assume even part of the support of the home, and that when he finds out that Georgina can bring home the bacon as well as he can she doesn't think it's fair to do it. (4) That even economically it doesn't pay for the wife to work outside of the home unless she has some especial skill that is highly paid.

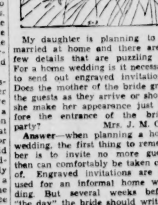

Each of these contentions has its point, and that is what makes it so hard for a married woman to decide what is her duty when a little more money for the baby's milk, for little Bobby's shoes and for a new hair wave for herself.

Unless a woman can make enough money to employ a high-priced domestic science expert, she helps her husband more by staying in the kitchen and watching the garbage can than she does by clerking in a store or pounding a typewriter in an office.

Personally, I do not think that any woman who has little children has a right to leave them to hirelings to rear for any job, no matter if it pays a salary like a new executive's. They are her job. They are her lifework. And no one in the world can substitute for her. No one can give them the love and tenderness and understanding that their mother can. And nothing that a woman can earn outside of the home can repay her children for having a mother in it.

DOROTHY DIX

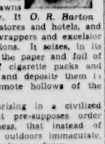

What To Do

My daughter is planning to be married at home and there are a few details that are puzzling us. For a home wedding is it necessary to send out engraved invitations? Does the mother of the bride greet the guests as they arrive or should she make her appearance just before the entrance of the bridal party?

Mrs. J. M. O.

Answer—when planning a home wedding, the first thing to remember is to have no more guests than can comfortably be taken care of. Engraved invitations are not used for an informal home wedding. But several weeks before "the day" the bride should write a note to the list of her mother's friends of herself and the bridegroom inviting them to the wedding. But engraved wedding announcements should be addressed and stamped all ready to mail after the ceremony. They should be for the friends of the bride and bridegroom who were not invited to the wedding. The bride and her mother and father and hostess should receive the guests in the living room. Just before the ceremony the bridal party enters the living room, the bride's mother and other members of her family take their places to the left of the improvised altar and the bridegroom's family stand at the right.

DOUBLE PURPOSE CARDIGAN BLOUSES

Serve As Jackets Over Dresses

It's fun to sew these little cardigan crepe silk blouses. They are just as flattering in size 42 as in size 14. They can be worn in many ways than one—effect lots of changes to your wardrobe. You can wear them smartly with your suit as with separate skirts. Made of lightweight woolen, they can be worn all summer over frocks. They are equally popular for early town. Made of printed cottons or linen, they are grand for golf and very gay with a monotone cotton or linen suit. Take just a peep at the illustrated diagram! See how easy it is to sew it . . . the price is just as easy on your pocket-book. Style No. 3397 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, 20 years, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust. Size 36 requires 1½ yards of 39-inch material with 1¼ yards of ruffling for collarless blouse and 2 yards of 36-inch material for blouse with collar.

Send fifteen cents (15c) in coin for pattern. Write plainly your name, address and style number. Be sure to state size. Address order to The Edmonton Bulletin, Pattern Department, Edmonton, Alberta.

The bride's book, which no bride-to-be can afford to miss for a carefully planned wardrobe, costs only 15 cents. The spring fashion book has new patterns for every type, every wardrobe requirement — new needlework designs. Send for it right away! Price is 15 cents.

Raising A Family

We drove through the city on a windy day. It was a liberal education in itself to see ton upon ton of refuse littering lawns and gutters. Where did it come from, they would it go? What manner of people could so litter a little about us?

Wind is a busybody. It swoops down on uncovered receptacles and scatters the contents on lawns a block away. It O. R. Barton gets behind stores and hotels, and flings fruit wrappers and excelsior in all directions. It seizes, in its strange rage, the paper and foil of thousands of cigarette packs and candy bars, and deposits them in the most remote hollows of the park.

It is surprising in a civilized country, that pre-suppose order and cleanliness, that instead of keeping our outdoors immaculate, we use it largely as a dump.

Now we come to the beginning of things and that is the training of our children.

Most things come wrapped now. And, as usual, fruits have skins. One of the very first things a child should have fixed in his mind is to take care of the candy wrapper or orange skin in his hand.

Once fixed, the habit of careful disposal will take care of itself. It is an essential of character.

School children get all the blame for littering up the streets. They deserve part of it, but observe the man open his mail and throw the envelopes away before he boards a bus, or the woman reducing her packages to one and dropping the superfluous bags to the sidewalks. The alarming thing is seeing it at night and fills the gutter; the yards with uncovered cans; the housewife's garbage, which never quite burn down. It is not all the children's fault, is it?

Yet these blindly people were children once. They simply never were taught their civic duty to keep things in order.

It will soon be picnic time. That means the defacement of parks and country. The clean-up expense after a Sunday or holiday is terrific. I don't think I ever saw a scrap of paper in a London or Paris park. Surely that wasn't just chance. The strange part of it is that the public

Bulletin Nourish Your Budget Upon Low-Cost Ham

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX

Ham is not only good to eat. This spring it is also kind to the purse. But you must be kind to the ham, too, if you want to coax it into tenderness.

First, determine how the ham was cured. That makes a difference in how you should cook it. More and more hams are being cured at higher temperatures, therefore they are really partially cooked when sold and, of course, need less cooking at home.

There are other hams on the market that have been smoked and heated so long that they are "precooked" and actually ready to eat. Usually the degree of tenderness is printed on the wrapper.

WELL-ROUNDED HAM BEST

Select a well-rounded, thick-through ham for best quality. The shank should be moderately short, not so long that it gives the ham a funnel-shaped look. Don't bake a ham with a wasteful amount of fat but a marbling of fat through the lean is an assurance of quality. So is the bright color of the lean.

A ham can be cut in half and roasted successfully. If your family is not large, buy a ham "half." Keep the ham, cooked or uncooked, in oiled paper in the refrigerator. A thin coat of cooking oil spread over the cut surface will delay drying and molding.

Strongly cured hams should be soaked overnight in cold water to cover. Mildly cured hams do not need soaking. Bake very slowly (250 to 260 degrees F.) uncovered and without water in the pan. Place rind side up. Allow about 30 minutes a pound for baking. To boil a ham, simmer it in water to cover, allowing about the same time as for baking.

All hams do not have rinds when sold. Those with rinds are called "regular hams," those without are "skinned hams." In baking or simmering a "regular ham," keep the rind on. Remove when done, score the fat and spread with brown sugar, honey or some other glaze, then return to oven.

Ground left-over ham can be mixed into potato cakes, used in devilled eggs, spread over toast for "open-face" sandwiches. This dinner dish is also fine for left-over ham.

CARAMEL APPLE-HAM LOAF

Two tablespoons butter, 2½ tablespoons brown sugar, 3 firm apples, cored, unpeeled, into ¼-inch slices. Add to butter-sugar mixture and cook until slightly browned. Dip slices of bread in water, squeeze, here loves an unsullied vista. They choose the inviting spots to camp or picnic and expect heaven to clean up after them.

Voting is one man's say. Order is one man's job. Each of us must do our bit and the result will tell.

Minute Make-Ups

Cosmetic colors are more striking and exciting than ever, this Spring. But they must be applied subtly, to avoid a "painted" look. If you've been using your make up by electric light, be sure to inspect the result by daylight, before going out. It may need quite a bit of toning down.

ENGLISH IS NOT THE OFFICIAL LANGUAGE OF THE U.S.A.

Europeans have long pointed out that the language spoken in the United States and other parts of North America is not English, but is a new language created by the Americans themselves, but it remained for the State of Illinois to verify the fact when they passed a bill in the 1923 legislature officially changing the name of the language of that State from "English" to "American." "What a baby shame," an English visitor commented.

Knead well, then spread over top of fruit in pan. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 40 minutes. Pour off fat. Turn out on platter, apples on top, and garnish with watercress. Serve with creamed potatoes.

Tomorrow's Menu

BREAKFAST: Tomato and grapefruit juice, cream of wheat, oatmeal, buttered toast with ham, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Fresh spinach souffle, French bread, strawberries, ladyfingers, tea, milk.

Australia Will Have New Radio Station By August

CANBERRA, Australia, May 3—A new naval radio station which will enable Australia's naval authorities to keep in constant touch with the British admiralty, Far East and South African naval stations is expected to start operation here next August. When completed it will be the most powerful radio station of its kind in the British Empire.

Memphis Plane Burns: 3 Dead

GRENADA, Miss., May 3—A plane belonging to the Memphis Commercial Appeal crashed and burned here today killing three persons including John Crump, youngest son of Memphis' political leader E. H. Crump. The other victims: George Stokes, about 33, the Commercial Appeal's veteran photographer-pilot; and Ted Northington, 31, reporter.

Forest Fires

sawed lumber on the ridge last Saturday and fighters thought they had it turned back from the mill but it swept back from the north Monday in a high wind, also burning 75,000 feet of logs ready to be sawed. Mr. Martin has been in the lumber business here for 20 years.

John Sarvesto, homesteader 10 miles north of Rocky, lost his barn, harness, two calves, chicken house, 100 chickens, all his implements and seed grain on Monday. He managed to save his house and its contents.

FOUR NEW FIRES

Four new fires started on Tuesday south and west of here. One, 15 miles southwest, is menacing the homestead of Frank Bradshaw, which is five miles from the nearest neighbor, through a thick stand of timber. It is feared the fire will jump the North Saskatchewan river and endanger the hamlet of Horburg.

Constable J. H. Leyland and forestry officials are working almost 24 hours a day. It is believed many of the fires have been deliberately set but, while there are several suspects, no arrests have been made and police refuse to give out information.

Every available man and boy from town is out fighting. A few fireguards are plowed and some backfiring has been done but these methods are not much good in a forest fire. The fight is mostly with water which is hauled up in tanks and barrels.

In the farming settlements men, women and children are fighting. One or two women stay at the nearest house to make coffee and sandwiches as there is no time for meals.

When a pine tree catches fire, it blazes right up to the top and then wind carries burning branches as far as half a mile. When some fires are believed out, a few men are left to guard against them blazing up again.

16-HOUR SHIFTS

Some men are at Buster Creek and others at Martin's mill. They all work at least 16-hour shifts for 15 cents an hour and their food. They sleep where they can. Food and medical supplies are being trucked out from town.

Dozens more stacks of hay and oats go every day. There is little wind now but the whole area is so dry that the smallest breeze fans the embers. Peat land and muskegs are burning steadily. Holes are dug in muskeg to try and stop fires. A horse fell into one of these holes east of town Tuesday and broke a leg and had to be shot.

West of town in one area about six miles square of burned land a truck driver found two horses Monday wandering around, unable to find a spear of grass to eat and apparently too frightened and dazed after the fire they had been through to know which way to travel for food and water. He drove them out to a creek the fire had missed.

One homesteader's shack burned up and he explained to worried neighbors when he returned that night that he hadn't noticed the fire and had gone down to the river to fish for the day.

Fire fighters are completely exhausted but none are in hospital so far. Cuts and burns are doctored by each other. A heavy curtain of smoke hangs over town. Fire on the east is within two miles of town but is considered under control unless the wind rises.

BASHAW, May 3. — Volunteer fire-fighters from town and farms were hard pressed early this week to control bush fires that got within a mile of town. C. Read lost a granary and several hundred bushels of grain.

Hitler Seeks To Form Non-Aggression Bloc

Hungarian Premier and Foreign Minister last week.

ANOTHER OBJECTIVE

Another objective of the present manoeuvre is to prevent further "encirclement," as the Germans call the Anglo-French system of anti-aggression alliances.

Hopes were high in German quarters, meanwhile, that Poland would have to come to terms acceptable to Germany. The press started at noon to bring reports from England and France indicating the British and French publics were criticizing the Polish press for exaggerated demands for territory now German.

HUNGARIAN POSITION

From a man in a position to know what Hitler and the Hungarian Premier and foreign minister—Count Teleki and Count Csaky—discussed, the writer ascertains that the Hungarian position is as follows:

Hungary and Poland have been traditional friends.

Sentimental scenes on the Polish-Carpathian border last March, after Hungarian troops battled their way across Carpatho-Ukraine (Czecho-Slovakia) to establish a common frontier between Poland and Hungary, were genuine.

But sentiment and tradition cannot stand in the way of the hard facts of politics. The fact is that the Poles have rejected an offer from Hitler which the Hungarian government considers to have been magnanimous.

FEELS SECURE

Hungary feels secure in her friendship with Germany.

She does not know what "mistakes" Poland may make next. Hence, if a choice must be made between Poland and Germany, Hungary is ready to side with Germany.

Meanwhile, Hungary fervently hopes Poland will prove "reasonable." She has reason to believe Premier Mussolini is urging moderation upon both Poland and Germany.

DIFFICULTIES GREAT

As to Slovakia, the Hungarian dream of seeing it incorporated in a greater Hungary still persists but at present difficulties of realizing it are so great that it is the part of wisdom not to press it.

Hitler himself apparently took the initiative in the offers to the Scandinavian nations.

It also was understood Germany advised Finland and Sweden the Reich has no objections to a joint fortification of the Aaland islands which dominate the entrance to the Gulf of Bothnia, northern extension of the Baltic.

Meanwhile the German propaganda machine emphasized to Warsaw that suggestions in the opposition press there of a "Polish protectorate" over Danzig were regarded in Berlin as "insane."

Newspapers were laden with editorials on "phantasies about Danzig".

Three Nations Confer On German Offers

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, May 3—The foreign ministers of Denmark, Norway and Sweden consulted today on a German offer of mutual non-aggression pacts to the three nations and to Finland.

Comment was withheld by all the ministers. The Scandinavian countries long have proclaimed their aloofness from European blocs.

Denmark alone has a land frontier with the Reich.

Germany Approves Fortification Plans

HELSINGFORS, Finland, May 3.—Germany's approval of plans by Sweden and Finland to fortify the Aaland Islands carried with it—according to a press report today—a companion proposal that Finland maintain strict neutrality in event of war in the Baltic.

The Berlin correspondent of the newspaper Hufvudstadsgladet said "The German government has proposed to all northern countries a mutual agreement guarantee, with official negotiations in this direction already going on between Berlin and the respective capitals."

(A dispatch from Stockholm yesterday told of Germany's approval of plans to fortify the Aaland Islands at the narrow entrance to the Gulf of Bothnia, northern extension of the Baltic. Great Britain approved the plan February 15.

(Russia is reported to have objected to the fortification plan on the ground that neither Finland nor Sweden was strong enough to hold the Islands in case of attack.

(The islands were Russian until 1917 when Finland declared her independence.)

Cash-and-Carry Neutrality Law Urged

By ANDRE BERDING
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May 3.—Recommendations for a new "cash-and-carry" neutrality law will constitute President Roosevelt's only reply to Chancellor Hitler's Reichstag speech, authoritative quarters said today.

It was learned the President gave up the idea of making a "fireside chat" or issuing a statement in rebuttal.

However, Cordell Hull, secretary of state, is preparing an outline of administration views on neutrality to be made before the senate foreign relations committee next Monday or Tuesday.

Reliable sources said Hull would support the Pittman neutrality bill, which would extend the "cash-and-carry" principle so as to cover sale of arms and munitions to warring nations.

This would be in the nature of a reply to Hitler, officials explained, because it would make United States arms available to Great Britain and France, who presumably would control the seas in a European war and who would have the necessary cash to pay for supplies. At present arms shipments are automatically forbidden the moment the President invokes the neutrality law.

BOY CREDITED WITH SAVING LIFE OF PAL

VICTORIA, May 3 — Doctors worked over 18-year-old Albert Lamb in hospital today while Hector Reid, his 16-year-old companion, was credited with saving the youth's life when he was attacked by a bull near here Monday.

The doctors said young Lamb has a good chance of recovering from the punctured lung, punctured thigh and multiple bruises he suffered when the bull pinned him to the ground before being driven off by Reid.

Reid seized a stick and beat the bull off.

Hoppers Hatching In South Alberta

LETHBRIDGE, May 3.—Reports reaching here today said grasshoppers are now hatching in sections of southern Alberta just as the spring battle against the pests began. The bait mixing station started operating here today and others in rural points will be in operation soon.

Mine Roads

$40,000 will be used in costruction of the highway running north from Grimshaw to Great Slave Lake as the Dominion prefers this work to be done.

The minister said that owing to the seasonal change, little can be done on this until the next freeze-up.

Mr. Fallow stated that he had received no final word from the Dominion regarding disposition of its $275,000 grant for construction of tourist highways, to be matched dollar for dollar by the province.

In the meantime the province is continuing with work on the Jasper highway.

In preparation for the Royal Visit all roads in the government buildings grounds will be surfaced, and a start will be made immediately.

EAST CREST 4 WELL AT 7,834 FEET TUESDAY

With plenty of evidence of production in the upper porous horizon which extended from 7,708 to 7,810 feet, East Crest No. 4 was at 7,834 feet on Tuesday. The formation is getting softer, which indicates that the top of the second porous horizon is not far off.

Situated northwest of the main group of producers in southwest Turner Valley, East Crest is a geological pathfinder. The log of the well indicates flattening out of the west bank to the northwest.

The Royalite report shows No. 39 drilling at 5,012 feet; No. 40 has reached a depth of 4,483 feet; 41 is drilling at 1,882 feet and No. 42 spudded in over the week-end was at 201 feet. Rigging up is proceeding at Royalite 43.

With indications of changing formation, Green Valley-Banner is drilling at 6,910 feet.

Officials of the Guardian Oil Co. expect to have drilling resumed at the Guardian well in the Pouce Coupe field some time this week. It was standing at a depth of 2,460 feet through the winter.

HE HELD HIS BREATH FOR 5 LONG MINUTES

NOTTINGHAM, England, May 3—When A. J. Sheffield, 25-year-old printers' employee, sought to enlist in the Royal Air Force Volunteers' observation section, the medical examiner told him to hold his breath.

Sheffield held it for five minutes, 40 seconds.

The astonished medical officer called a fellow officer and asked Sheffield to do it again. He was one second short of his previous achievement.

Sheffield said he was determined to pass his test and held his breath till his head ached.

Vancouver Labor Opposes League Of Toronto Origin

VANCOUVER, May 3.—The Vancouver, New Westminster and District Trades and Labor Council last night approved an executive recommendation voicing opposition to the Leadership League sponsored by George C. McCullagh, Toronto newspaper publisher.

"The trade union movement, as represented by this council, is strictly a non-political organization," the recommendation read. "However, we must and do subscribe to a system of government that is 'by and for the people'."

The feature of yesterday's market was the active buying of Canadian wheat by the United Kingdom. It is estimated that over a million bushels were sold afloat and for nearby shipment. The Argentine also sold good quantities for distant shipment at full prices although freight rates there had advanced. The reason for the sudden change in policy is obscure but some traders ascribe the buying of Vancouver afloat stocks and the Argentine forward shipment wheat to the fact that the American federal surplus committee corporation has definitely ceased offering American wheat for export at present. There is also the possibility of war in Europe, with Great Britain committed to assist certain countries if they be attacked.

CORPS READY ASSIST WITH ROYAL VISIT

1,500 Men Will Be Available For Duty, Likely On Parade Route

More than 1,500 members of the Canadian Corps association are ready for duty during the Royal Visit to Edmonton on June 2, it was disclosed at the general meeting of the Corps held Tuesday evening at the Masonic Temple.

It was not disclosed what the nature of that duty would be, but it was thought probable that the men of the corps would be utilized in lining the parade route.

S. H. Campbell, chairman of the membership committee, reported that new members were being added to the Corps strength at the rate of 40 and 50 monthly, and that the present strength was approximately 1,700. President W. L. Oliver initiated 33 new members Tuesday evening, five of whom were from out of town.

In connection with the Royal visit duties President Oliver reported that parade orders would be issued in due course and also that there was the possibility that these orders would be broadcast over local radio stations.

Col. F. A. Stewart Dunn, chairman of the Canadian Corps patrol, reported that plans were underway to have the Corps' members supplied with uniform and also to extend to scope of this service to Edmonton citizens. Appeals for financial assistance from residents in the districts patrolled to carry on this work was made by a member of the association during discussion of the report.

Progress reports from the citizenship and resolutions committee and the constitutional committee were received, and President Oliver reported that the entertainment committee had arranged for a Royal Welcome concert at "The Hut", University Hospital, on May 16 with Ed Sturrock as master of ceremonies.

H. A. Dyde, president of the Alberta executive of the Corps, reported that an executive meeting would be held on June 24, and also that Corps branch had been formed at Boyle with a membership of 35.

Announcement that four members of the Canadian Corps had been selected as part of the firemen crew on the royal train was received with considerable satisfaction by members of the corps attending last night's meeting.

The firemen selected are A. H. Barr, former member of the 58th Company, Railway Troops, and S. Miller, 49th Battalion, while Fred J. Higgins, Canadian Light Horse, and A. J. Millward, 10th Battalion, are selected as standby firemen.

Man Arrested Driving Drunk As Car Weaves

Weaving all over 98 street, just south of 102 avenue, at 4 p.m. Tuesday, an auto attracted the attention of Sgt. Major Alex Riddell, head of the city police traffic squad. He saw the driver slumped low in the seat, with his head almost resting on the steering wheel.

Running to the moving auto, the officer leaped on the running board, reached through the side window and turned off the engine switch. The driver, William Spade of Edmonton, was then arrested for drunken driving and taken to the police station, just across the street from where the car stopped.

In police court Wednesday Spade pleaded not guilty to a charge of driving while drunk, and said he was just stopping in front of the police station to inquire about a member of the police force, when he was marched across the street and locked up. He was sentenced to 14 days in Fort Saskatchewan jail.

City had 50 cases of whooping cough last month, it was reported Wednesday by Dr. G. M. Little. None of the cases was fatal, but the disease as a rule is only fatal if complicated by pneumonia.

Dr. G. Fred McNally, deputy minister of education, has left for Toronto to attend the annual meeting of the Canada and Newfoundland Educational Association, of which he is president. He will return here next week.

City Commissioner R. J. Gibb, R. G. Watson, parks superintendent, and G. H. Thompson, Calgary, manager of the Calgary Power Company, conferred Tuesday in regard to a possible hook-agreement between the city and the company. The deliberations will be reported to council.

Earliest break-up of the Slave river at Fort Smith took place this season, according to word received here. The ice moved out recently. Practically the whole river is clear of ice below the rapids and planes are able to land on the river. Ice is still solid at Fort Gerald, but is expected to move shortly.

Catherine Brown of Edmonton was awarded a diploma at graduating exercises of the Royal Victoria Hospital Training School for Nurses at Montreal Tuesday. Helen Heise of Cranbrook, B.C., was awarded a prize for the best word report, while Patricia Byrnes of Whonnock, B.C., was also awarded a diploma.

A debate on the subject, "Resolved Canada Now Needs Selected Immigrants," will be held in the Agency building Friday at 8 p.m. The debaters from the Junior Chamber of Commerce are Ted Cook and Ted Simpson; from the Young Conservatives Speakers' Club, Bob Tighe and D. Shaw, the latter taking the affirmative. Judges will be L. Y. Cairns, K.C., and E. H. Ayling.

D. R. McNabb was elected president of the Edmonton Dental Society at the annual meeting held in the Macdonald hotel Tuesday evening. He succeeds Faust Gowda. Plans for sending a delegation to the Western Canada Dental convention, slated for Winnipeg May 29-31, were discussed. Dr. V. M. Lloyd was elected vice-president of the Society with Dr. R. L. Schaaff as secretary-treasurer and Dr. W. P. Calhouin as social convener.

Returning from a six-day air trip to Whitehorse, Yukon, and return, Captain James Bell, manager of the Edmonton airport, expressed admiration for the scenic wonders of the route and was enthusiastic over possibilities of future summer resorts. "I made the trip because I get so many inquiries about the route, I sought I could answer them more efficiently," said Captain Bell. Captain Bell stated that Watson lake, lonely outpost on Liard river, was particularly ideal for a summer resort.

GROUP ADVISES APPOINTMENT OF CITY BUYER

All Purchasing to be Done Through Central Department is Plan

Appointment of a city purchasing agent and creation of a central purchasing department to handle all city buying will be recommended to city council at the special aldermanic committee which met Tuesday.

This committee, appointed at the end of 1938 to investigate irregularities in the stores and works and other departments, held its final meeting Tuesday and drafted recommendations based on its investigations.

Former superintendent of stores and works and city buyer H. W. Rattenbury was dismissed as result of the investigation and last week was sentenced in supreme court to a year in jail for defalcations. His position at present is vacant.

WIDER DUTIES

The new recommendation of the committee provides for a purchasing agent with vastly wider duties than those held by Rattenbury, and for creation of a central purchasing department, handling all city buying. Whenever technical equipment is required, approval of the superintendent of the department involved will be obtained for the purchase.

The purchasing agent, according to the recommendation, would have supervision of all stores, which would be subject to check by him at irregular periods. Further details of duties would be set from time to time.

Commissioners reported to the committee that the bonding company had reimbursed the city by $2,584.10 on shortages of Rattenbury.

NO EMPLOYEE BUYING

A long series of regulations on purchases and purchasing audit was approved by the committee. One of these suggested that it necessary it was that no civic employee be allowed to buy goods from any city department or any outside firm either in the city's name or on city requisitions. This will apply to both wholesale and retail purchases.

Notices will be issued that all cheques should be made payable to the City of Edmonton and not to any individual and that no cheques be cashed by the city treasurer, but only be received for deposit.

The only two known specimens of the giant weeping redwood tree are located in the state of California.

Board Urged Probe Purchasing System

Supt. G. A. McKee and Harry Turner, secretary-treasurer, were instructed Tuesday evening by members of the property committee of Edmonton Public School board to make inquiries regarding the cost of hiring a chartered accountant to probe operations of the purchasing department of the board with a view to setting up a new detailed business method for handling this branch of the work.

"It is my opinion that no employee of the board should be asked to make a purchase without signing a slip," chairman George Gleave said.

The superintendent and secretary might submit a report on the method of purchasing, storage and distribution of school supplies so as to eliminate any unnecessary purchases, Mr. Gleave continued.

"A technical adviser brought in could draft regulations for the superintendent and secretary, and I don't know where we could get better advice than from an auditor," Trustee S. Bruce Smith said.

Through The Mill

On tenterhooks because he feared a man he went bail for was not likely to be around these parts when he was to go on trial, a man complained to police that he could not keep track of the accused man and wanted to back out of his precarious position. The court found, however, that the accused man had shown no indication of dropping out of sight, and said the bail bond would stand.

* * *

About two hours of the court's time was occupied with a case of a man and wife charged with being keepers of a disorderly house. They pleaded not guilty.

Morality squad detectives told of keeping observation on the apartment of the accused pair for several nights, and recounted nocturnal visits of strange men to the premises. They raided the place when one of the strange men was in the premises and while the husband was in another room.

In their own defence the man and woman said they were interviewing men who wanted to work on a coal mine operated by the woman's father.

The case was adjourned to the afternoon session.

* * *

"The police were too close when I came off the side road," said a motorist charged with having failed to stop when entering the Calgary highway. An R.C.M.P. patrol was nearby and saw the car move out on the highway ahead of the two cars on the main highway. He was fined $2 and costs.

Kathleen Busby Captures 3 Events At Music Fete

Climaxing a day of triumphs, Kathleen Busby, petite soprano songstress captured the open soprano, mezzo-soprano or contralto event at the Edmonton District music festival in McDougall auditorium and in so doing won unstinted praise from the distinguished adjudicator, Sir Ernest MacMillan.

In the afternoon Miss Busby had shared with Kathleen Robertson the distinction of winning the soprano and contralto duet and with Miss Robertson and Mayme Holland the ladies' trio event.

From a glittering field in which competition was close throughout, Miss Busby emerged the winner of the open event in the evening.

In scoring her evening triumph she won the highest mark so far awarded, namely, 180 with 90 marks for each of her test pieces.

In the last few years she has shown a progressive improvement in her work. A year ago she sang a leading role in the presentation of The Elijah in McDougall auditorium. In recent years she has been prominent in the various music festivals and her win on Tuesday was interpreted as being further evidence of the continued progress she has made. Miss Busby chose as her first piece One Fine Day from Madam Butterfly and here with its wide emo-

Rain Is Forecast In City District: Showers In North

Relief from the prolonged dry spell of the past few weeks was in sight Wednesday as rain clouds drifted over the Edmonton and northern Alberta districts. Weatherman promised mild weather with a strong probability of showers.

A trace of rain was recorded in the city overnight at 2:30 a.m. Wednesday. Showers were reported in the near northern areas during the night while Wednesday morning rain was falling at Slave Lake, Mirror Landing and Athabasca. Roads in that section of the province were unaffected by the light downpours, however.

Top thermometer reading in Edmonton Tuesday was 74 above at 3:30 p.m. At 5:30 a.m. Wednesday an overnight low of 53 above was chalked up. Temperatures were expected to remain in the moderate zones Wednesday.

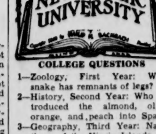

Temperature range in the far north was 34 above and in the near north 42 to 56 above.

Chamber Confers With Fallow On Jasper Highway

Special sub-committee, headed by E. T. Love, which is pressing for improvements to the Jasper highway and lodge decided at a meeting in the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday to interview Hon. W. A. Fallow, minister of public works, in connection with their proposals on Wednesday.

An interview with the cabinet minister had been arranged for Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 p.m. Mr. Love said.

As the committee feels its memorandum urging improvements "to Jasper Park "has been largely ignored by the federal government," said Mr. Love, a telegram was sent Tuesday by the sub-committee to Hon. T. A. Crerar, minister of mines and natural resources, and Hon. Charles MacKinnon, M.P. for West Edmonton, minister without portfolio, asking what the future policy of the government will be.

DR. WRIGHT IS APPOINTED HEAD MEDICAL GROUP

Dr. Victor W. Wright, chairman of the Alberta Workmen's Compensation Board, has been appointed chairman of the medical committee of the International Association of Industrial Boards and Commissions, according to information received here Wednesday.

The International Association is a body composed of administrators of compensation in Canada and the United States. It meets once a year to discuss labor and general compensation problems. This year its meeting will be held in Milwaukee, Wis., from Sept. 25 to 28.

Last year Dr. Wright was a member of the medical committee, the only Canadian appearing on any of the association's committees and the medical branch functioned under Dr. E. S. G. Schoolfield of West Virginia.

Medical and labor men here said that in appointing Dr. Wright as chairman of the medical committee a high honor had been conferred upon the Alberta board and its efficient administration.

The Inquiring Reporter

Without having any particular reason or motive for his sudden decision The Bulletin Inquiring Reporter has suddenly decided that what this world needs more than anything else is a good motto. So in search for a motto which will revolutionize human nature and give everyone a fresh start, a bed, a roof, three square meals a day and everything else their little hearts may desire he asked: "What is your favorite motto?"

Here are the answers:

SYLVIA KELLY, waitress: Hitch your wagon to a star—keep your seat and there you are.

* * *

THE CITY EDITOR: Don't put it off. Get it done now and then we won't have to be worrying about it at deadline.

* * *

* * *

* * *

JAMES McMURRAY, policeman: Always expect the worst, then, no matter what happens, you won't be disappointed.

* * *

MARGARET BOREHAM, stenographer: Never give explanations. Your friends don't need them and your enemies won't believe them.

* * *

WUNG LEE, laundryman: Confucius he say: if you would be happy, consider each day as a castle. And live in it as though the owner intends to return and put you out at nightfall.

Injured Lineman

Condition of Jack Scidler, city telephone department lineman who suffered a fractured vertebra in a fall from a cable Tuesday morning, was given as "not too bad" by Royal Alexandra hospital attendants on Wednesday.

ALIGNMENT IS SEEN AS STOP TO AGGRESSOR

Dictator States May Be Checked, Figgures Believes

New alignment of forces in Europe may check the aggressor states and thus strip them of the quick success in war which has been the basis of their national power, F. E. Figgures, of London, England, director of the International Federation of the League of Nations Societies, said Tuesday night.

Mr. Figgures was speaking in Knox United church at a meeting called by the Edmonton branch of the League of Nations Society. Mrs. F. C. Casselman, president, was chairman.

SWIFT VICTORIES

Hitler and Mussolini, the speaker pointed out, have been able thus far to score swift victories in foreign affairs and their prestige in this respect has served to compensate for internal sufferings of their countries.

Should their foreign policy no longer result in such victories, he suggested, the world may look for an explosion of the wrath that has been accumulating against the dictators in Italy and Germany.

Success of the new peace front organized by Britain and France, he continued, puts the problem on a new basis. As that combination of powers has just come together in the new arrangements, it is hard to see what the effect of the new diplomatic combination will be, but both Italy and Germany now know that their aggression faces a new barrier, he reasoned.

JUNIOR PARTNER

Reviewing the clash of interests in the troubled area of the Mediterranean, Mr. Figgures said that thus far Italy has been the junior partner of the axis powers and been dragged along by the greater weight and momentum of German foreign policy.

Control of Spain would give Italy the power to neutralize Gibraltar's value to the Empire, he warned.

Five Grass Fires Reported In City: Total Decreasing

Daily number of bush and grass fires in Edmonton has fallen off considerably since last week, when firemen answered 14 calls from morning to night. The department reported five grass and bush blazes in the city from 8 a.m. Tuesday to 1 p.m. Wednesday, with no damage being done by any of the fires.

In addition to the grass fires, there was a blaze in a house at 100 street and 88 avenue, but the flames were confined to the sitting room of the home, with little damage reported.

Council Advised Advertise Post Of Fire Chief

Special investigating committee of city council, which held its final meeting Tuesday, will recommend to council that the position of fire chief be advertised, to be filled September 1.

Since the dismissal of Albert Dutton from this post, James Macgregor has been acting fire chief. Mr. Macgregor would apply for and be awarded the position, but council ruled several months ago that, when positions as superintendent are to be filled, they must be advertised.

City Will Seek Slash For Levy

Mayor John W. Fry, City Commissioners Robert Gibb and John Hodgson, and D. M. Duggan, M.L.A., will meet with Hon. Solon Low, provincial treasurer, and others of the cabinet, Thursday at 11 a.m., seeking a reduction in the social service levy paid by the city to the province. At present the levy is $96,000 which amounts to 4.15 mills on land. Reduction to three mills, saving about $25,000, will be asked.

Condition Is Same For Injured Youth

Attendants at the Misericordia hospital said Wednesday that the condition of Elmer Decore, 16, 10626 92 avenue, was "unchanged" from Tuesday, when he was admitted in an unconscious condition after a fall from the girders to the deck of the Fifth Street bridge. Devore, who touched power lines while climbing in the girders of the bridge, regains consciousness at intervals.

Drinking facilities at the schools will be open to the public at the Macdonald hotel Wednesday.

DUST PROGRAM IS PLANNED BY CITY ENGINEER

$13,000 Is Appropriation For Oiling City Streets

Summer program of dust abatement has been started by the city engineer's department. It was learned Wednesday from Arthur Smith, street foreman. The oiling program this year will cost $15,000.

Heavy, black oil is being laid on roads with a spreader. Then the roads are scarified and bladed with a Diesel grader.

Present strips being oiled are on 118 avenue from 121 to 127 streets, from the fifth street bridge to the Y in the park road on the South Side, from McDougall hill on 102 street on the fifth street bridge road.

Present operation will use up the 5,000 gallons of oil on hand and 9,000 gallons more is expected to arrive soon.

Looking Them Over

By Jack Kelly

After The Acid The Big Need Chapman Clicks

THE forecast that Killer Coates would prove a tough test of Wenstob's fallure worked out last night. Eddie survived and won a close decision, but the 10-round struggle made it clear that the western champion needs a lot of hard work with top-notch sparring partners if he is going to beat Tiger Warrington in their proposed Dominion championship bout next month.

Another major point established was that Eddie can get up off the canvas and keep on fighting. That crack that Coates landed on the Viking in the fourth round appeared to carry as much weight as a wallop from the hind leg of a particularly peevish mule. You could hear it land on Eddie and the way he spun around and went down left no doubt as to the power behind it.

The way Wenstob shook off the effects of that right hand bomb was a pretty fair indication of his physical condition. It also provided a slant on his mental condition. He became over cautious from then on. That was probably due chiefly to the fact that he has seldom been hit that hard. His defensive boxing ability has saved him from any severe punishment and when that handful of stars hit him he subconsciously became too careful. No fighter can be blamed for using due care after taking a blow like Coates delivered, but too much care may very easily lose him the bout.

Eddie should be thankful today that he met Coates before tangling with Warrington. He needs to put in the hardest month of training he has ever been through if he hopes to win over the eastern contender. He must sharpen up his offensive weapons and better sparring partners must be obtained for him.

Jimmy Chapman Impresses

JIMMY CHAPMAN, fighting his first pro fight in his home city, won himself hundreds of supporters by the way he punched his way to a kayoe victory over Flash Bailey. Jimmy can get mad and go to town with both hands. He rips in with a savage, machine gun attack that is the answer to the fans' prayers.

Last night's kayoe was his third straight, two previous ones being chalked up in California during the latter part of the winter. He has taken on a lot of polish and ringcraft since his disastrous affair with Mog Mason in Toronto. Jimmy was matched over his head in that bout by handlers who were more interested in the payoff than his development. However his new manager, Dave Cavalas, seems to be bringing him along now in a mighty impressive way.

While the main event of last night's card was a bit disappointing, the other bouts were all exceptionally good. Promoter Fred Osborne did some fine match making. Furthermore no doubt was left in anybody's mind that Fred wasn't fooling when he promised that Coates would be a ring full of trouble for Wenstob.

Flashes From the Wires

IF Johnstown wins the Derby the gent behind the eight ball will be Buck Weaver, hose expert of the Louisville Times. Mr. Weaver picked Johnstown as far back as June, 1938, then saw him lose a race in October and switched to Benefactor. Benefactor went lame and Mr. Weaver landed on Technician which he is still straddling. If you want to start a real Kentucky feud, just mention the 200 to 1 Mr. Weaver could have got on Johnstown then, to say nothing of being the only guy on record to name a Derby winner a year ahead of time.

If Johnstown had to carry the cash that's laid on him to win next Saturday's Kentucky Derby he would crumple up at the post. Bookies hereabouts say a Johnstown win will cost their fraternity some $1,100,000 through the country.

The Dodgers caught the World's Fair spirit and gave their customers a sure enough glimpse into the World of Tomorrow when Leo Durocher substituted a pinch runner for a pinch runner. The novelty almost exploded in Leo's face when pinch runner No. 2 narrowly escaped being caught off base.

Viking Will Field Fast Ball Club

Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

VIKING, May 3.—That Viking will field a young and fast baseball team this year was the outcome of a meeting which was attended by enthusiastic fans and supporters. A. Kaslor was elected manager and Art Clandfield coach.

Together with several members of more experience and some promising youngsters it is hoped that baseball will take on a new lease of life in this town that used to be one of the hottest baseball spots in the province. Efforts are being made to form a league consisting of Viking, Irma, Holden and Ryley along the gas line. To start the ball rolling a game between married men and single men will take place on May 7 at 3:00 p.m.

Coates Knocks Western Champ Down on Canvas in Fourth Round

By JACK KELLY
Edmonton Bulletin Sports Editor

OUT of 10 desperate rounds of fighting, Eddie Wenstob emerged last night with the judges' decision declaring him winner over Charles "Killer" Coates, hard-hitting Los Angeles light heavyweight. The outburst with which the fans greeted the decision left the impression that the said fans didn't exactly agree with the judges.

Billed as the toughest fight Wenstob has had in several years, last night's battle proved to be exactly that. In the fourth round Coates drove a terrific right into Eddie that spun him around and dropped him to the canvas. Wenstob was up again before Referee Jerry Delane could start the count, but his long record of never having been knocked off his feet was broken.

Eddie came off the canvas fighting—but with caution. He made certain that there were no more openings for that head-splitting right hand of the chocolate-hued Killer. Wenstob had taken the first three rounds with open two-fisted attacks that drove Coates into the ropes, but after the Killer's right sent him spinning to the floor in the fourth he contented himself with careful sniping.

LEFT TALLIES POINTS

He piled up points with a straight left to Coates' face and short rights to the body as they clinched repeatedly. In the eighth, Wenstob drove in hard when he caught the Killer slightly off balance. Heavy rights and lefts smashed Coates into the ropes and partly through them. He came out, however, without any serious damage. Coates was also driven half way through the ropes in the second round.

Wenstob's margin of victory was small. Referee Jerry Delane gave the western champ a win by a single point on his card. The markings of the other two judges was also small.

From the fifth round on to the final bell, there was a lot of clinching that brought repeated demonstrations from the fans.

After the fourth round that saw Wenstob knocked down, Coates began to force the fighting and it was this that won him a lot of his points for Eddie was able to tie him up on the in-fighting without taking much in way of punishment.

The weights announced from the ring gave Wenstob a five-pound advantage over the rugged Los Angeles battler. Eddie's poundage was given as 173 and Coates' as 168.

SCORED A GOAL AGAINST WAUSAU, WISCONSIN STATE CHAMPIONS — WINNING THE GAME Feb 1939

CALEB POWERS
TWICE SENTENCED TO LIFE IMPRISONMENT AND ONCE SENTENCED TO DEATH FOR THE MURDER OF GOV. GOEBEL OF KENTUCKY — GAINED HIS FREEDOM LEGALLY AND WAS ELECTED 4 TIMES U.S. CONGRESSMAN FOR KENTUCKY.

EXPLANATION OF TODAY'S CARTOON

THE HOCKEY GOALIE WHO SCORED: Sig Wick, goalie for the Eagle River Falcons, attained the rare feat of scoring against his opponents in a game at the Eagle River, Wisc., stadium. As the goal defender, the goalie ordinarily never has an opportunity to score, but Wick accomplished the feat when the referee called for a penalty shot against the Wausau hockey team. Wick requested the opportunity to make the free shot and succeeded with a hard shot that hit the opposing goalie waist high and bounced the puck into the net.

Chapman Kayoes Bailey In Smart Semi-Windup Go

JIMMY CHAPMAN, fresh from knockout triumphs at Los Angeles, scored his third straight kayo at the Empire Theatre last night, dropping Flash Bailey in the seventh round of their eight-round semi-windup on the Coates-Wenstob bout.

This semi-windup was one of the best bouts on the card. Both boxers tore at each other all the way with Chapman having a decided edge on the ball.

Chapman started his winning march in the first round as he floored Bailey for a two count. Bailey came back strongly in the second round and weathered Chapman's furious fusilage of fists until the seventh. It was midway in the seventh frame when Chapman put Flash down for the full count. It appeared that Bailey had hurt his hand badly and had also taken a severe pummelling on the ropes. Even as Referee Jerry Delaney counted Flash out, Chapman hovered near, ready for the final kill.

Lindsay Guild scored the other preliminary knockout, sending Leo Janiken to the canvas in the second round of their six-round battle. Guild, slugger from Strome, Alta., caught Janiken a stinging blow to the middle and the Edmonton mittman stayed cold for the count.

Billy Johnson sent Bob Mercer down to defeat in the first bout. Johnson scored a four-round margin against his Edmonton opponent. Doug Kerr refereed these preliminary bouts.

This practice is for juveniles only and the Arrow juniors will work out Thursday night at the same place and the same time.

Rocky Brooks Newcomer For Belt Mat Final Here

CHOICE talent, in fact the very best seen in international middleweight tournament bouts held here for the past three months or so, will be in action at the Memorial Hall Friday night when Promoter Mikie Cutcher offers a grand climax of the tournament.

A champion, holder of the coveted silver belt, will be decided Friday night while six or more starry matmen will battle for this prize jewellry. Five bouts will be witnessed in this grand finale. A newcomer will head the list as Rocky Brooks will appear against Dandy Dizzy Davis in the elimination process.

Other starry bouts will have Bob "Red" Boy Cummings against Pat O'Dowdy and a regular battle royal is promised here. Popular Soldier Thomas will meet the mysterious Mr. Skull in the other elimination bout. It will be remembered that Thomas has an old score to settle with the Skull and Thomas may settle this score.

Two more bouts will follow rounding the card into five bouts. The result of the first three bouts will provide three winners. Thus the three winners will draw and one will draw a bye. The two wrestlers left then will meet and the winner of this pair will meet the more fortunate matman drawing the bye.

There will be two judges and a referee to handle these bouts which will start at 8:45 sharp.

O.C. Cricket

OXFORD, Eng., May 3.—Gloucestershire defeated Oxford University by five wickets Tuesday in the opening first-class cricket match of the season. The game started Saturday but no play was possible Monday owing to rain.

Oxford University made totals of 286 and 132 for eight declared, the eastern county replying with 304 for eight, declared, and 206 for five wickets. During the game Tom Goddard, veteran Gloucester bowler, took nine wickets for 100 runs.

Opening games in the county championship competition are scheduled for May 6.

Girls' Softball League Is Formed

Girls' softball got away to a good start last night. Officials of the league were elected and three teams were entered, a fourth team meeting opposition in this respect.

W. T. Tait was elected president while C. H. Croft was chosen vice president and Ken Metheral secretary treasurer.

Three teams were entered with Arrow Hollingsworth entering his Army and Navy Pals, Eddie Oldring with the Black and White team and Eddie Oldring with a team. A fourth suitable team will be applied for and a meeting will be held on Tuesday night at the York Hotel. The league plans its opening on the 23rd of this month.

LOU GEHRIG NOT WORRIED OVER RECORD

No Regrets for Columbia Lou About Missing Tuesday's Game

By DALE STAFFORD
Associated Press Sports Writer

DETROIT, May 3.—For the first time since May 30, 1925, New York Yankees played a major baseball game Tuesday without Lou Gehrig in the lineup.

Apparently without regret Gehrig ended his "iron man" performance at 2,130 consecutive games for what he termed "the good of the team."

Gehrig and Manager Joe McCarthy insisted the action of the big first baseman was entirely voluntary. Now 35, Gehrig is the holder of numerous baseball records and has been a notable figure with the present world champions for more than a decade.

Lou Gehrig

MADE UP MIND SUNDAY

"I made up my mind Sunday night to ask McCarthy to bench me," Gehrig said. In Sunday's encounter against Washington Senators Lou came to bat four times with men on base and failed to get a hit, the Yankees losing 3-2.

Gehrig sat, shoulders hunched forward, on the visiting team's bench at Briggs Stadium yesterday as his teammates clubbed Detroit Tigers 22-2.

"The consecutive game record always was meaningless to me, and now that I have ended it you newspaper guys will believe me."

Gehrig said he had not determined how long he would remain on the sidelines.

HOPES TO HIT STRIDE

"I hope the arrival of warm weather will enable me to hit my stride," Lou said. When Gehrig left the lineup Tuesday he was batting only .143. Gehrig's place was taken by Ellsworthy (Babe) Dahlgren who signalized his entry into the lineup by hitting a double and a homer in his first two times at bat.

Statistics Prove Greyhounds Worthy English Champions

LONDON, May 3.—Ample evidence showing why Harringay Greyhounds won the English National Hockey League championship came out today in the official statistics. A Greyhound forward was the leading scorer and their defence had the best goals-against record.

Big Jack Shack from Winnipeg paced Greyhounds to the championship by scoring 24 goals and 20 assists, a 44-point total better by three than Alex Archer of Wembley Lions. Greyhounds' superiority extended further down the scoring list, his Canadian linemates, Dune Cheyne and Jack Brunsdon, finishing third and sixth with 40 and 38 points, respectively.

Goalie Jimmy Foster of Greyhounds allowed only 78 goals over the 30-game campaign, four less than Roy Musgrove, the Winnipeg boy who tended goal for Lions.

Of the newcomers to the English league Paul Rheault, 24-year-old winger from Moose Jaw, made the best impression. Rheault notched 28 goals and 10 assists for Wembley Monarchs. This gave his 11th place among the scorers.

Two New Horses Forge Into Derbytown Spotlight

By SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 3.—The faint shadow of a doubt that maybe Johnstown and Technician weren't the only horses in Saturday's Kentucky Derby field spread across Louisville last night.

While these two still remained the popular favorites to fight it out in Saturday's race, the names of another pair, Valdina Farm's Viscounty and W. L. Brann's Challedon, re-echoed through Derbytown as a result of their exploits Tuesday.

As race fans poured into this turf centre, Viscounty virtually assured himself of a post position in the "big race" by taking the one mile Derby trial stakes from a field of eight other eligibles, while Challedon clicked in the fastest 1¼ mile workout yet run at the downs.

BEATS OUT TECHNICIAN

They did their fancy stepping not long after top-favored Johnstown arrived on the scene to make the Derby field complete.

Viscounty, a big game son of the Porter-Trap Star, won the trial by the width of his whiskers from Technician, under a heady ride by Jockey Charley Bierman. The loss didn't take a thing from Technician, largely because the Insco offspring was crowded against the rail all the way down the stretch, but it definitely put Viscounty into the Derby picture.

At the same time, those among Tuesday's seven other starters lost considerable strength in track-side opinion. Chief among these was W. E. Boeing's Porter's Mite, which tired considerably in the stretch after setting the pace virtually all the way to the three-quarter pole. He wound up in fourth place, trailing Junius W. Bell's Steel Heels.

PAYS NICE PRICE

Viscounty, covering the mile in 1:36.2, paid $47.60 to $2 mutuel ticket holders. Trailing the field by various distances up to 25 lengths were such other frequently mentioned starting possibilities as W. H. Whitehouse's American Byrd, Shady Brook's Timeful and Tom Taggart's Yale O'Nine, as well as D. Lehan's Fern Creek and Mrs. C. Gregory's Lostagal.

Stratton Will Net Nearly $30,000

CHICAGO, May 3.—Vice President Harry Garbiner of Chicago White Sox announced Tuesday the benefit game for Monty Stratton netted the disabled pitcher at least $29,840.25. Stratton, the Sox's ace pitcher last season, lost a leg in a November hunting accident and now is a coach with the team.

Community Loops To Hold Softball Meeting Thursday

Federation of Community Leagues will hold a softball meeting at the Y.M.C.A. tomorrow night to complete arrangements for the coming softball season.

Boys' and Girls' Leagues will be operated, with Senior, Junior, Juvenile and Midget sections in the Boys' and Senior, Junior and Peewee in the Girls'.

All entries must definitely be in at this meeting, as it is expected that play will begin next week.

West End Reds Win Opener Of Lacrosse Season

WEST END REDS scored a 6-5 victory over Jesuit College in the opening game of the city lacrosse league played at the college grounds Tuesday night.

Both teams turned in a fine brand of lacrosse, coming through with a great brand of combination play and giving the goalies plenty of action with their accurate shooting. As the final score indicates, the contest was closely fought throughout and the Reds were forced to stage a three-goal rally in the final quarter to win out.

SUMMARY

First quarter—1, Reds, Hogan (McKenzie) 2, College, Brousseau (Drouin); 2, College, Drouin (Brousseau); 4, Reds, Retaillie (Simpson). Penalty: Brunelle.

Second quarter—3, Reds, Barker (McKenzie); 4, College, Brunelle (Drouin). Penalties: Hogan, Brousseau.

Third quarter—5, College, Declarie, plain (Gaudette). Penalty: Brousseau.

Fourth quarter—5, Reds, Simpson; 6, Reds, Walters, 10. College, Drouin (Brousseau). 11, Reds, McKenzie (McCallum). No penalties.

YANKEE SLUGGERS CRUSH TIGERS 22-2 SCORE

World Champs Stage Great Hitting Spree

DETROIT, May 3.—While Lou Gehrig, benched at his own request after 2,130 consecutive games, watched from the sidelines, his New York Yankee team-mates clubbed the offerings of five Detroit pitchers for 17 hits Tuesday to slaughter the Tigers 22-2 in an American League baseball game.

Rookie Outfielder Charley Keller, making his first start in the lineup, led the champions' attack with a home run and triple, and later with bases loaded, to drive in six runs. But Babe Dahlgren, who took Gehrig's place at first base, also had a big hand in the barrage. His double in the first figured in a six-run attack, and in the third he boosted the Yankee lead to 8-0 with a homer into the left field stands with man on base.

George Selkirk and Tommy Henrich also clouted for the circuit.

A's Boot Game

CHICAGO, May 3.—With the Athletics' erratic defence booting in the three marginal runs, Chicago White Sox defeated Philadelphia 4-1 Tuesday and climbed into second place in the American League over the idle Boston Red Sox. It was the Sox's fifth straight win and their seventh in eight starts.

The veteran, Ted Lyons, held the A's to six hits in his first 1939 victory.

National League

BOSTON, May 3.—Failure of the league-leading Boston Bees to grasp numerous opportunities Tuesday cost them their first home game of the season 2-1 to St. Louis Cardinals. The defeat was offset by Cincinnati's surrender to New York Giants.

Deacon Danny MacFayden held the Cards to five hits but they bunched them for runs in the second and ninth innings.

Ott Leads Giants

NEW YORK, May 3.—Mel Ott, the Giants' best trouble-shooter, solved two problems for Boss Bill Terry Tuesday. He moved to third base to plug the team's biggest defensive gap and, with two aboard two out in the ninth, blasted a home run that beat the Reds 8-7 and broke the New Yorkers' five-game National League baseball losing streak.

In the field, Ott handled five chances faultlessly. At the plate, he paced the Giants' 13-hit attack, in addition to his three-run circuit blow, he drove in another run in the sixth with a single.

Danning hit a homer off Paul Derringer in the third.

ADD SIX MORE TO BASEBALL'S HALL OF FAME

Plaques Placed in Honor of Early Luminaries of Diamond Sport

By EARL HILLIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO, May 3.—To baseball's hall of fame Tuesday were added six more names—those of players whose brilliant careers contributed an early and romantic chapter to the 100-year-old history of the game.

Plaques will be placed in the Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N.Y., honoring Albert Spalding, Charles Radbourne, Adrian (Cap) Anson, William Cummings, Will (Will) m (Buck) Ewing and Charles A. Comiskey.

PLAY BEFORE 1900

Star performers of the era prior to 1900, they were selected by Kenesaw M. Landis, commissioner of baseball, and the two league presidents, William Harridge of the American and Ford Frick of the National, in collaboration with baseball writers.

Radbourne, known as "Old Hoss" was with Providence, R.I., of the National League through the season of 1885 and pitched four years for Boston Nationals. He wound up his career with Cincinnati in 1890. Altogether, he pitched in 517 games, winning 310 and losing 191. In 1884 he won 60 games for Providence.

ANSON'S GREAT RECORD

Anson managed Chicago Nationals 21 years. A first baseman, he hit better than .300 for 20 seasons, leading the league in hitting in 1879, 1881, 1887 and 1888. In 22 seasons in the National League he averaged .339 at the plate.

Cummings was famed as inventor of the curve ball, first using the pitch with Brooklyn Stars in 1867.

Ewing, a great catcher, starred with New York Giants, batting better than .300 nine years. A fine all-around star, he later managed Cincinnati.

The "Old Roman," Comiskey, revolutionized the style of playing first base. Until his entrance into the game, first sackers played with one foot on the bag. He moved away from the base and made pitchers cover the sack. He bought the St. Paul club of the Western League and moved it to Chicago in 1900.

SPALDING STAR HURLER

Spalding, a Rockford, Ill., native, starred as a pitcher for Boston and Chicago, winning 47 games and losing only 13 for Chicago in 1876. He retired from the game in 1891 to devote his time to the sporting goods business bearing his name.

The selections are the last to be made before June 12, when baseball's 100th birthday will be celebrated at Cooperstown.

Channel Island May Be Another Gibraltar Base

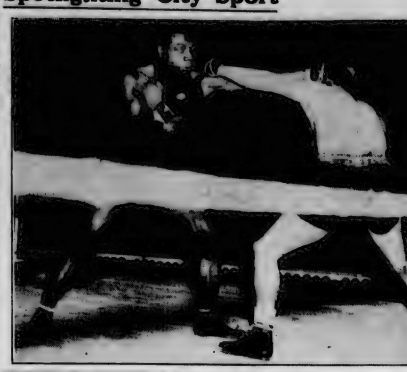

ST. ANNE, Alderney, May 3. — Acquisition of the St. Anne civil airport by the British air ministry, which is planning to establish an armament training school for airmen, has led to reports that Great Britain is preparing to convert this channel island into a second Gibraltar.

However, both the air ministry and the admiralty deny that fortifications will be erected or that the islands will be used as a fortified base for operations.

Alderney is the third largest of the channel islands and is northeast of Guernsey. It is about 20 miles off the coast of France and about 100 miles from Portland point on the south coast of England.

Spotlighting City Sport

In the above scenes The Bulletin staff cameraman caught Tuesday's sport highlight in Edmonton. The upper panel is an exceptionally fine shot of "Killer" Coates, colored, exchanging straight lefts with Eddie Wenstob in last night's fight. This shot was taken in the second round. The lower panel shows A. L. Horton receiving the trophy emblematic of the veterans' championship of the Alberta bonspiel. Mr. Horton, famous as the editor of the Vegreville Observer, skipped his rink of Thomas Casson of Vegreville, A. M. Carscadden of Fort Saskatchewan, and George Loades of Viking, in the veterans' championship in February. The trophy for this event was not ready yet, so the formal presentation was made Tuesday afternoon in the King Edward hotel. Fred Gravelle, donor, is shown on the right presenting the trophy. It is unique in that it was made entirely by Gravelle himself, a fine piece of craftsmanship in stainless metal.

AUSTIN MOVE GETS BACKING BY EDMONTON

TORONTO, May 3.—Calling for national teamwork in all sections of Canadian life and giving a lead by combining in a statement embracing practically every branch of athletics, twenty-two outstanding Canadian sportsmen have put their weight behind H. W. "Bunny" Austin and the campaign of moral rearmament in which the Davis cup star has been giving such vigorous leadership.

Current stars like Syl Apps, consistent performers like Sandy Somerville and Percy Page, were among the signatures of the statement which was issued on Monday as Austin returned to the United States after nearly a week in Canada. The statement follows:

"Twenty-five years ago the cream of Canadian sportsmen gave all they had in the service of their country. Courage, endurance and self-discipline were called out for a cause which demanded every sacrifice.

WORLD WIDE PROGRAM

"In there a cause today great enough to demand these same qualities—a cause in which self-interest and sectional pride can be lost? We believe there is, and we feel impelled to join with such outstanding British sportsmen as "Bunny" Austin, George Eyston, Jack Beresford, Len Harvey, and H. W. Abrahams, in supporting the world-wide program of Moral Re-Armament.

"Pride, selfishness and greed, the enemies of peace, are the active enemies of sport. The principles of Moral Re-Armament—honesty, unselfishness and clean living—are the principles of every sport worthy of the name. We believe that Canadian sportsmen can give a lead by accepting first for themselves and then for Canada these principles of Moral Re-Armament.

A MIGHTY FORCE

"Sport has long been accepted as a random force, mighty in its power to capture the imagination and emotions of millions, but largely unrelated to the issue of a world struggling daily for its security. This force properly directed can change the thinking of our people. By starting with themselves and then through discipline and teamwork, in which they are unashamed, the followers of every line of sport can forge a mighty weapon to cut through the confusion, suspicion and fear in the life of our country.

"To provide this spirit of Moral Re-Armament for Canada is the greatest sporting opportunity of our time."

Sir George MacLaren Brown, K.B.E., member for Canada on the International Olympic committee.

T. H. C. Alison, president of the Argonaut Rowing Club.

Sylvanus Apps, Toronto Maple Leaf Hockey club star centre of the N.H.L., 1939; Canadian Olympic pole vaulter, 1936.

Frank "King" Clancy, veteran National Hockey League player, Ottawa and Toronto, 1921-1936.

Abe Cowan, veteran goal keeper of the Ottawa National Hockey League Club.

Robert "Bobby" Kerr, 200 metre Olympic champion, 1908.

Professor T. R. Loudon, past president of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada, and of the Canadian Association of amateur oarsmen; vice-president of the Inter-collegiate Athletic Union.

Professor M. A. McKenzie, honorary president, Inter-collegiate Athletic Union of Canada.

J. C. Merrick, member for Canada on the International Olympic committee, past president of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada.

A. H. Pangman, counsel of the Canadian Olympic ski team, 1936; vice-president of the Canadian Ski Association.

Dr. J. C. Simpson, president of the Inter-collegiate Athletic Union of Canada.

C. Ross "Sandy" Sommerville, six times Canadian amateur golf champion and American amateur champion, 1932.

Lou Gehrig a Man Alone In Room Full of Men

By HENRY McLEMORE
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, May 3.—I found him in the shadows of the dressing room last week, tucked away on a bench in the corner, pulling on a cigarette and a tall glass of beer.

In a room full of men he was all alone.

Stripped to his funny baseball underwear he just sat there, unmindful of the laughing and the joking and the talking going on about him. Just sitting, just thinking, just worrying.

The Yankees had just won a close ball game, but you never could have told it from looking at Lou Gehrig. His one hit in 17 times at bat, the walking of Joe DiMaggio to get at him as an easy mark, the cruel slaps in the newspapers, the tough walk from the sunshine into the shadows—all of these hurts showed on the face of the man who for so long had dominated the American League with his bat.

NO EASY APPROACH

There could be no easy approach to the man, so I made it direct.

"Lou," I said, "if you had it all to do over again would you punish yourself the way you did to get that consecutive games played record? If you were just starting out would you drive yourself to play even when your legs were bruised, your toes and fingers broken, and—well, when you were sick?"

He didn't hurry his answer. Finally he said:

"Yeah, I would. Yeah, I'd do it just the way I have. Maybe it wouldn't be smart, but it's all I know. Work, I mean. I never have known anything but work since I was six years old. If I had ever sat on the bench when I thought I could have done the club any good, I believe I'd have batted my head against the dugout wall."

LOU REVIEWS GAMES

Lou stopped talking and looked straight ahead, as if reviewing all the games he had played without a miss since that afternoon in June, 1925, when he broke in as a regular. I'd know what you're thinking," he said after a while. "That if I had nursed myself along I wouldn't be worrying too much today. My legs would be faster, my eyes sharper, everything would be better. But you're wrong. Wrong about me, anyhow. I never could help giving all I had. I never could see playing in 150 games if you could play in 154. Colonel Rupert knew how I felt. I'll never forget him telling me that no man who ever worked for him had levelled anywhere than I had.

"GET IN ALL I COULD"

"Listen, suppose this is my last year. What of it? In my 15 seasons I have played as much baseball as the fellows who spread it out, took it easy, and lasted 17 and 18 and 19 years. When I started baseball I figured that a player's big league life was eight or nine years.

"I decided to get in all I could, get all the money I could while I was able. No matter how much a man loves baseball he must remember that it is his business, his career, and that from it he must earn enough to get a nest egg, enough to take care of a wife and family. That's what I did. Drove myself as hard as I could. Concentrated everything I had."

NOT HIS LAST YEAR

I asked him if he thought this was his last year in baseball.

"No," Lou answered, "I don't. I'm pretty bad right now, but I was worse this time last year. Remember, I didn't get a hit in the first 21 times I was at bat last season."

"Are you worried now, and are you pressing?" I asked.

"Sure I am," the big fellow said. "I'm the worrying kind. Can't help it. But I'm coming out of it. At least I think I am. And anyway, the Yankee fans been swell? Lord, it helps to hear them pulling for me."

When I left him I couldn't help but feel that the fellow who said only good things of him upstairs was all wrong. Because Gehrig, being swept downstream, is going gamely. He can take it—and he

"FAREWELL to SPORT" By PAUL GALLICO

Picture Editor's Delight

CHAPTER XIX

THE best-known group of girl athletes in the whole United States is not made up of tennis-players, golfers, runners, or jumpers, but of swimmers. This is due to Miss Annette Kellermann and the various gentlemen responsible for the art of the camera obscura and photo-engraving; it is axiomatic that nothing so gladdens the heart of a roto-gravure or Sunday page editor as the picture of a pretty girl or a group of pretty girls in one-piece bathing-suits. There have been many theories and explanations for the sudden rise of women's swimming to the tremendous popularity that it enjoys in America today. The simplest and most valid of all is that it has sex appeal.

The newspaper editor and publisher for many years has been aware of the value of a, in his pages as a sales stimulus. Incoming cuties and movie actresses on transatlantic liners cross their legs for the camera man. Fuller girls and fan dancers make elegant page lay-outs. Society girls sunning themselves at the social beaches, bathing beauties on parade, the female figure in any form of exposure, sell papers.

Gallico

But there is a definite limitation imposed upon the editor. The use of these figures and exposures must be legitimate, otherwise it will prove a boomerang and cost him more in sales and dear advertising than it will win for him. He cannot afford to turn his paper into a form of Police Gazette, with nudity displayed merely for the sake of nudity.

Thus, the crossed legs that decorate page one all belong to prominent people whose arrival or departure is news; the full-length portraits of scantily clad professional beauties, actresses and night-club cuties, when removed from the theatrical pages where they belong are likewise legitimate news when they have plastered a husband or lover or sued for divorce or are blackmailing for alimony or breach of promise.

IDEAL ANSWER

But semi-legitimate as are these uses, nothing of late years has been able to approach in sweet innocence, coupled with undeniable sex appeal, photographs of handsome young girls in revealing bathing-suits lined up on the edge of a pool, waiting for the starting guns, or poised on the end of a springboard or diving-tower, or caught in mid-air in full flight. It is news—sports decent, completely privileged, in good taste and at the same time arresting and stimulating as all get-out.

These pictures may be used ad lib on the sports pages—a section that appeals chiefly to men, anyway—occasionally on page one when a championship is at stake, and at all times to dress up the Sunday or rotogravure sections. Whether or not the girls and their parents and the swimming authorities and the prissily proper A.A.U. know it, the newspapers have been using the swimmers as circulation-pullers just as the real-estate promoting corporations in Florida, California, and New York have been using them for half for years ever since the one-piece silk swimsuit supplanted the blouse, skirted, stockinged bathing-clothing of the early and late nineties.

However, sports have had some strange bedfellows before, and this set-up is by no means the strangest. And to date it has been pretty much of an even swap. The newspapers got their exciting pictures. The girls got their necessary publicity. And on this publicity women's swimming, in itself not a particularly exciting spectacle, built itself up from semi-private meets held in tiny indoor pools to a large and successful sports attraction that upon several occasions has drawn more spectators than a heavyweight prizefight or a baseball match for the world's championship.

LUNCH

Lunch is a brief time in the middle of the day before people go back to hating their jobs.

An employee is someone who brings his lunch to his business. An employer is someone who brings his business to his lunch.

When the whistle starts to blow, everyone stops work, except, of course, the guy blowing the whistle. He finishes blowing it.

Business is practical. This is illustrated by the fact that when the boss gets a bad pickle with his sandwich, he's sore practically the whole afternoon.

No Garden Too Small For A Gay Lily Pool

Tub Pools Are Inexpensive

How refreshing in a corner of your garden is a lovely lily pool! Time now to prepare for this summer's beautiful blossoms.

For the pool, just sink into the ground a half barrel, a tub or one of the ready-made metal pools. Fill to within 6 inches of the top with good garden soil. Then add a half inch of sand and fill with water—as in diagram.

Perfect for a small pool are the pigmy water lilies. Blooms come in white or yellow and you may have as many as a hundred from a single plant in one summer. For a truly delightful little water scene, combine lilies with other aquatic plants as our diagram shows. (1) arrowhead, (2) water lily, (3) water hyacinth, (4) shell flower.

Charming to edge the pool with weathered rocks, plant rock garden beauties such as marsh marigold, forget-me-not. With tall Regal fern your tiny woodland is complete.

How to plant and propagate gorgeous water lilies? Our 32-page booklet has full instructions for growing different kinds of water lilies. Gives directions for pools made with cement and the block pond type, suggestions for border planting. Tells how to make and plant rock gardens.

Send 10c in coins for your copy of "How To Make Rock Gardens and Lily Pools" to The Edmonton Bulletin, Home Service Department, Edmonton, Alberta. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

Kathleen Busby Captures 2 Events At Music Festival

tional and tonal range, changing moods and opportunities for vocal and dramatic display she won warm commendation from Sir Ernest.

He described her singing as of "an exceptional fine quality." He declared "She seems to be a born singer" and stated that some who did not possess specially fine voices made them seem so much better through the natural gift for singing. "But here was a "born singer" as well as one with a fine voice. Her singing, he said, had "a genuinely direct appeal" and she sang with "real imagination and lovely tone quality."

In the Puccini aria, he would have preferred a quieter opening and more suppressed excitement in some places, as well as a slower tempo in spots.

Her other number, a song by Armstrong Gibbs, likewise drew praise from Sir Ernest.

SECOND PLACE

With 173 marks, 86 and 87 for her two test pieces, Jeanette Paul won second place. Ethel Dunn scored 82 and 84 marks for 166, and Lorena Ritchie with 76 and 80 scored 156.

Of the class as a whole, Sir Ernest said that he had heard some "very delightful singing."

In one case he urged a better selection of songs for festival purposes. It was "all right for singing stars to sing these songs, but they get a fat fee for it."

The senior piano class for competitors under 23 was won by Mary Brownlee with a total of 177 marks on her test pieces, Bach's Sarabande from the French Suite in G, No. 5, and Mendelssohn's Capriccio (Scherzo), opus 16, No. 2, drawing 90 and 87 marks respectively.

Second place went to Lucy Calnero with 175, being 88 and 87 respectively for the two test pieces. Third place went to Nelda Faulkner with 172 or 86 and 86 for the two test pieces.

Jean Parker scored 166, Eileen Farrell 168, and Hazel Boggs 165.

DELIGHTFUL WORK

In speaking of this class generally, Sir Ernest declared that there was much delightful work heard in it.

Directing attention to the Bach number, he said that the metronome mark of 84 was too fast for his liking and that any metronome marks inserted on music composed before the beginning of the 19th century were not placed there by the composer. Therefore, such markings were a matter of taste. Custom as well as his own preference was for a slower speed in this work than most had taken it. He stressed the fact that the expression marks in the edition of Bach being used also were not placed there by Bach but by an editor.

He said that all contestants revealed "some very delightful tone" and all displayed "good part playing." Some, however, were a little uncertain about ornaments.

He found Miss Brownlee's playing of this number more "languid with "some lovely melody shading."

The Mendelssohn number generally received warm praise, but he urged that all notes be played clearly, and then, as Hans Richter had said, the speed would seem greater.

URGES CLARITY

He also urged clarity in bringing out the horn call.

Junior vocal ensembles for singers under 18 attributed close competition. Westmount group, trained by Miss M. A. Munro, won first place with 171 marks, being 86 and 85 respectively for the two test pieces, Ireland's In Praise of May, and In Summer Woods.

Second place went to Trinity Girls' Choral Group, trained by Mrs. Leonard Daws with 167, being 83 and 84 for the two test pieces, third place to First Baptist Junior choir with 165, being 83 and 82 marks for the two test pieces, and fourth place went to Llanarthney school, with 160 marks, being 84 and 82 for the test pieces.

Sir Ernest urged the singers to get their tongues well forward on the teeth. He gave each points in regard to the singing of the numbers.

A close band competition took place between the senior and junior sections of the Edmonton Schoolboys' Band, conducted by F. Newlove. The senior section just nosed out the junbiors, the seniors obtained 87 marks out of 100 and the juniors 85.

The race was close and the playing of the bands received well merited recognition from the adjudicator.

PREMIER HONORS

In her third competition of the day, Betty Jean Hagen romped off with premier honors in the girls' solo event, for competitors under 16 years. She scored 86 out of 100 marks. Second place went to Kathleen Lammie with 85. The test piece was Dunhill's The Blossom.

Sir Ernest made some complimentary remarks about this class, as he had done about piano classes earlier in the day.

The intermediate piano class, for competitors under 18 years, was won by Margaret Rymer with 186, obtaining 80 for playing Beethoven's Rondo in C, opus 51, No. 1, and 85 for Gabriel Grovlez's Petite Liandes de Jesus. Second place went to Hildred Thompson with 161, with 81 and 79 marks respectively for the two pieces.

TAKE TIME

Speaking of this class, Sir Ernest advised them that in the playing of the Beethoven they should not be in too much of a hurry. "Don't rush, just glide into it gradually," he said. He pointed out that sometimes the tempo was too slow and sometimes too fast.

In the primary violin class, for competitors under 12 years, Betty Hagen was the winner with a total of 175, with 83 and 90 marks respectively for Schumann's Melody in G, and H. E. Kinsey's Sir Knight.

Donald Ewart won 158 marks and Shirley Bendickson 156.

Speaking to this class, Sir Ernest stressed the importance of correct position of the violin. He counselled the players regarding the necessity for good intonation.

John Peter Millward was the sole competitor in the junior violin class, for players under 15 years, for the two test pieces Tenaglia's Air and P. H. Miles' Rustic Dance. He received 84 and 81 marks respectively, for a total of 165.

Sir Ernest expressed appreciation of the young violinist's playing and pointed out that the middle parts had suffered from a tendency to "heave" the bow.

ENCOURAGING TALK

The mezzo soprano competition brought forth some encouraging remarks from Sir Ernest. This event was won by Doris McWhirter with 171 marks, of which 83 were scored in singing Tristan's The Silver Swan and 88 in singing Phillips' Spring is a Lovely Lady. Second place went to Margery Andrews of Sedgewick who scored 170 marks, 84 for the first piece and 86 for the second. Mayme Holland scored 168 and Mrs. A. Foulds of Delburne, 167.

Of Miss McWhirter, Sir Ernest said she possessed a colorful quality in her voice and was free from tremolo. Her words were well dealt with and were given significance through clear articulation. Her singing of the second song was a bright and happy performance, he said.

The first song, said Sir Ernest, was more difficult than the second and on the whole, taking the class all round, the second song had been sung better than the first.

COLORFUL VOICE

Commenting on Miss Andrews' singing, Sir Ernest declared that her voice was colorful but possessed too much vibrato and there was a tendency toward shripness. But she was a very expressive singer.

The soprano and contralto duet event was won by the McDougall Duet, who are Kathleen Busby, soprano and Kathleen Robertson, contralto. They won 88 marks. Second place went to the Potvin Sisters with 86 and third place to Kay McLeod and Neida Faulkner with 82.

Of the winners, the adjudicator declared that Miss Busby possessed "a beautiful soprano." There was much fine singing and their voices blended well.

Of the Potvin Sisters he said that there was a delightfulness and lightness in style. He stressed the singing of the second part, which was done with grace. The singing was well balanced.

The Ladies Trio was won by the McDougall Trio, composed of Misses Busby, Robertson and Mayme Holland. In this event they scored 89. Second place went to the Potvin Sisters, augmented by one from the previous competition, with 87 marks and third place was won by Lyric Trio No. 1, with 85 marks. In giving his adjudication on this class, Sir Ernest emphasized the excellence of the blend of the voices.

Central United junior choir, conducted by Sybil L. Holaman won the Sunday school chorus event, for a minimum of 12 voices, with 178 marks with 88 and 90 being won for the two test pieces, Handel's Come Unto Him and Rathbone's God Send Sunday.

Robertson junior choir, conducted by G. A. Kevan and First Baptist conducted by Mrs. F. Barber with 164 and 172 each.

Following the evening competitions a reception was held in McDougall church in honor of Sir Ernest. The event was attended by members of the executive and others.

School Children Festival Feature

School children occupied the centre of the stage—as well as other sections of it—at the Edmonton District music festival at McDougall auditorium on Wednesday morning and with Sir Ernest MacMillan adjudicating, choruses and sight singing tests were held.

Speaking generally of the events, Sir Ernest declared that the standard of sight singing was very high. He pointed out the necessity of all concerned paying strict attention to business as one slip, in sight singing, as in skiing, would spell disaster. He urged the choruses to keep trying at sight singing as it was better to make progress in this line than to be spoonfed.

AID TEACHERS

He stressed the necessity for the students heeding their best aid to the teachers because if they let down in their efforts they would let down their teachers who had worked so hard on their behalf.

McDougall school, Room 4, conducted by Miss E. Williams won the Grade I school chorus event with 85 marks, while Room 13, Queen school, conducted by Miss E. Austin, with 82 marks, was second.

Grade II school chorus event was won by Oliver school, Room 19, conducted by Miss M. Tompkins with 175 marks, of which 87 were for the first piece and 88 for the second. Second place went to Room 2, Garneau, conducted by Miss A. C. Roberts with 171 marks, three being 85 and 86 marks respectively for the test pieces.

Queen's Avenue school, Room 4, conducted by Miss E. Hay, scored 168 marks; St. Francis school, conducted by Sister M. Ernestine, scored 168.

In Grade III sight singing tests King Edward school, conducted by Miss E. Joudrey, won first place with 92 marks.

Others in this event, with marks, were: McKay Avenue, Room 3, conducted by Miss E. Hay, 86; Garneau, Room 5, conducted by Miss A. C. Roberts, 87; Queen's Avenue, Room 5, conducted by Miss H. G. Bell, 81, and Norwood, Room 3, conducted by Miss J. Pointer, 78.

The Grade III chorus competition was won by King Edward, Room 4, conducted by Miss E. Houdrey, with 174 marks, 87 and 87 respectively for the two test pieces. Second place was scored by Room 5, Garneau, conducted by Miss A. C. Roberts, with 173, there being 86 and 87 marks respectively for the two test pieces.

Other results in this event were: H. A. Gray, Room 10, conducted by Miss M. Dickson, 161; McKay Avenue, Room 8, conducted by Miss L. Williams, 169; Norwood, Room 7, conducted by Miss J. Pointer, 162; Queen's Avenue, Room 3, conducted by Miss H. G. Bell, 164.

SIGHT SINGING

In the Grade IV sight singing, first place went to Westmount, Room 12, conducted by Miss M. Livingstone, with 83 marks. Second place went to King Edward school, Room 2, conducted by Miss E. Gough, with 86. Other marks were McKay avenue, Room 3, conducted by Miss E. Hay, 84; Garneau, Room 4, conducted by Miss R. E. Law, 78, and Ritchie, Room 8, conducted by L. Campbell, 79.

In the Grade IV school choruses, first place went to Alex Taylor school, Room 8, conducted by Miss E. Wilson with 180 marks, of which 84 and 85 respectively were given for the two test pieces. Second place went to St. Francis school, conducted by Sister M. Ernestine, with 167 marks of which 83 and 84 respectively were given for the test pieces.

Other marks were: Alex Taylor, Room 9, conducted by Miss Jean Dickson, 160; Ritchie, Room 4, conducted by Miss S. Brushett, 158; McKay Avenue, Room 5, conducted by Miss L. Hall, 163; Glenora, Room 4, conducted by Miss R. E. Law, 163; Westmount, Room 16, conducted by Miss M. Livingstone, 160, and Ritchie, Room 8, conducted by L. Campbell, 161.

Noted British Army Officer Dies

WORCESTER, England, May 3.—General Sir Robert Irvin Scallon, 82, who served with the British army from 1876 until the second year of the Great War when he was invalided, died at his home here today.

Sir Robert spent most of his life in India, and took part in the Afghan campaign and in the Burma expedition. From 1914 until 1915 he served with the northern army and from 1915 until 1920 he was staff Lieutenant at the War Office headquarters.

E. C. MANNING HAPPY FATHER AS HEIR BORN

Hon. Ernest C. Manning, minister of trade and industry and provincial secretary, was handing round the cigars Wednesday as a bouncing baby boy arrived to bless his household. He is their first-born.

The baby boy was born on Tuesday night and is a splendid young fellow weighing eight pounds and 15 ounces. Both mother and son are doing well.

Mr. Manning was at his office on Wednesday and attended a cabinet meeting during the morning.

Mrs. Manning is the former Muriel Preston of Calgary. A brilliant pianist and a skilled vocalist, she has assisted her husband at meetings of the Calgary Prophetic Bible Institute and at the Edmonton Prophetic Bible Conference.

Regulated Marketing System Is Urged By Dominion Fur Adviser

LONDON, May 3.—New emphasis on quality and establishment of a regulated marketing system was urged by J. D. Forbes, fur adviser to the Dominion department of agriculture, as means of restoring Canada to a dominant position in the London fur market.

Mr. Forbes, whose office is in London, said producers must first cull ruthlessly indifferent stock; and secondly they must contribute to more orderly marketing."

There is little difference in quality between Canadian and Scandavian furs, Mr. Forbes said, but the proximity of the European producers to the market gives them an advantage. Canada and Scandinavia are the same time, in November, but Scandinaia has been able to dominate the early silver fox sales in November, December and January. More than 50 per cent of the Canadian March contribution was left on the auction floors here.

INHERITED CHIEF SIN

"Fortunately for us, the Scandinavians have inherited our chief sin—indifference to quality—or our position would be really serious," Mr. Forbes said.

Canadian furs come with a rush to dominate the March, May and September sales. Depressed prices have resulted from the glut on the market.

"If we could establish an orderly marketing system, by which the supply would be gauged according to demand, keeping reserves on 'ice' and thus avoiding damage, we could stabilize the whole industry," the government official asserted.

HOUDE POSES IN NEW ROLE: DRESS EXPERT

MONTREAL, May 3.—The metamorphosis was brief, but Mayor Camillean Houde, serving his fourth term as Montreal's Chief Magistrate, asumed a new role Tuesday—that of ladies' fashion arbiter for the Royal Visit.

Walking in on a meeting at City Hall where women relatives of municipal officials were being advised by experts on what to wear and how to act May 16 in the presence of the King and Queen, Houde announced:

"For the afternoon, dresses can be worn short or half-long or long—or so I'm told. And I would ask you (turning to the fashion experts) to be lenient. Aldermen are not rich, no matter what you may have read to the contrary, and many of the wives already have bought their dresses, so don't ask them to make any purchases they can't make."

Envoy At Athens

LONDON, May 3—The foreign office today announced appointment of Sir Charles Michael Palairet as minister to Athens.

POLICE HUNT PORCUPINE IN HOME BASEMENT

VANCOUVER, May 3. — A telephone call to city police Monday sent officers hunting for a porcupine in Mrs. J. McEwan's basement.

The "porkie," which officers believed wanderers from nearby bush, was pushed into a box and bundled off to headquarters. Later a park official took the animal to Stanley Park and set him loose.

FIFTY SCHOOLS TO COMPETE IN RURAL FESTIVAL

Children from the Clover Bar and Sturgeon school divisions will take part in the annual Edmonton Rural School Festival to be held at the Masonic Temple Friday. It was announced by officials Wednesday.

About 50 schools will be represented in the competitions, of which 33 are ungraded, while the rest are schools of two, three or more rooms.

In addition to the music classes there will be dramatic events, at Talmud Torah Hall and recitations and piano events at Rosary Hall.

Judges are: Piano, Helen Macgregor, solos, duets and choruses, W. J. Hendra; solos, G. A. Kevan; recitations, Mrs. D. B. Rees; choral speaking, public speaking and recitations, Dr. D. Dickie, and dramatics, Mrs. R. Gowan.

Mrs. J. Spalding is secretary. The festival will conclude with a concert in the Masonic auditorium Friday evening.

Acceptance Of New Relief Pacts Is Anticipated

OTTAWA, May 3. — Hon. Norman Rogers, minister of labor, told the House of Commons Monday the government "anticipated" acceptance of new relief agreements by all the provinces as soon as the government's relief bill was given royal assent. Mr. Rogers said conversations had been held with all the provinces on the matter, results of which were the basis of the government's anticipation.

Man Responsible For Guarding King, Queen Has Had Varied Career

OTTAWA, May 3.—Chief Constable Albert Canning of Scotland Yard is busy co-operating with the Royal Canadian Mounted Police in plans for guarding the King and Queen during their tour of Canada.

Since Canning joined the force in 1909 at the age of 20 he has been connected with the special branch whose principal function is to "guard the security of the state."

At New York he conferred with authorities in charge of the royal program in the United States. With New York and Washington police chiefs he went over every foot of the routes to be traversed by Their Majesties. A long conference is being held in Ottawa over protective plans for the coast-to-coast Canadian journey.

Only once in his career has anything happened even remotely to approach an "incident." That was in July, 1936, when an onlooker tossed a loaded revolver near King Edward VIII.

Canning has enjoyed a more thrilling and eventful life than the average detective. At the outbreak of the Great War he was on special duty abroad. This mission completed, he was given a commission as an intelligence officer with the British expeditionary force and served in France until the end of hostilities.

Lately he and his squad have devoted their wits to the challenge of Irish Republican army terrorists. He was responsible for rounding up a large number of suspects, many of whom were convicted and given long terms of imprisonment.

Roper To Serve Temporarily As Canada Envoy

WASHINGTON, May 3—Daniel C. Roper, it was disclosed Tuesday, will serve only as temporary United States minister to Canada.

The former secretary of commerce, appointed to the diplomatic post by President Roosevelt yesterday, said:

"I expect to remain only during the period of the visit of the King and Queen of Great Britain. That would be about 60 days, or 90 days at the most."

There was no indication who would succeed Roper at the end of that time.

Winnebar Wins Chester Cup By Three Lengths

CHESTER, England, May 3.—Sir Frederick Eley's Winnebar, a five-year-old by Winalot from Tabaria, today won the Chester cup stake, over two miles, two furlongs, 77 yards. Winnebar started at 100 to 8.

Miss B. Jameson's Irish Stew, also 100 to 8, finished second, three lengths behind the winner, with Eildon Hill, at 8 to 1, in third place 1½ lengths farther back. Eighteen ran.

Saskatchewan's Bond Issue Met

REGINA, May 3. — Saskatchewan's $3,000,000 bond issue was met on due date, Monday, May 1, Hon. T. C. Davis, attorney general, said today. The issue was underwritten through the Dominion Securities Corporation syndicate in connection with some other bond issues.

POLAND ALMOST CERTAIN REJECT NAZI DEMANDS

WARSAW, May 3. — Cries of "Down with Hitler" mingled with cheers for Polish troops parading through Warsaw today in the capital's celebration of the 148th anniversary of Poland's first constitution.

Foreign Minister Joseph Beck completed the draft of the speech in which he will tell the Chancellor Hitler's renunciation of the Polish non-aggression treaty, and deal with German demands for Danzig and a 15-mile wide German road across the Polish corridor. The reply will be delivered at noon (4 a.m., M.S.T.) Friday. The press predicted Beck would answer Hitler's demands with a clear "no."
